PETITIONS ASK BOND ELECTION FOR WAR MEMORIAL LIBRARY

Woman's club heads program for approval

Members of Arlington Heights Woman's Club are engaged in a whirlwind campaign to secure 500 signatures this week end to petitions asking the Arlington Heights village board to call a special election to vote on a bond issue that will make possible the war memorial library building.

Village officials Monday evening assured Paul Patrick, president of the library board, that the petitions would be given the right-of-way for an early election in order that actual construction of the building could be started in early spring.

AN ARLINGTON Heights Memorial Library Building has been dreamed about and talked about many years. The only concrete action on the matter was taken October 14, 1946 when the Community Council accepted the recommendation of the war memorial committee and adopted a public library building as a fitting war memorial.

At that time there were $8,000 in that fund. Over $3,000 were added from the receipts of the 1947 Community Council July 4 celebration. The exact amount on deposit today, belonging to the fund is $11,427.52.

REVITALIZED Community Council meeting last Monday, spent some time discussing how soon and for what part of the cost of the proposed library that the "nest egg" be used.

By unanimous consent the money will remain in the hands of the trustees until after the voters approve a bond issue, which is estimated will be in the neighborhood of $80,000.

Selection of possible sites for the building will also await bond approval by the voters. An effort will be made to secure the needed land at a reasonable figure. Suggestions are coming from all parts of town, but there has been no donations of land offered up to the present time.

THE SKETCH of the proposed building, prepared by Walter Kroeber calls for brick and stone construction of contemporary design, providing a quiet dignified appearance corresponding to the purpose for which the building will be used.

As a memorial, places will be left in the entrance-way for plaques honoring the local boys who served their country.

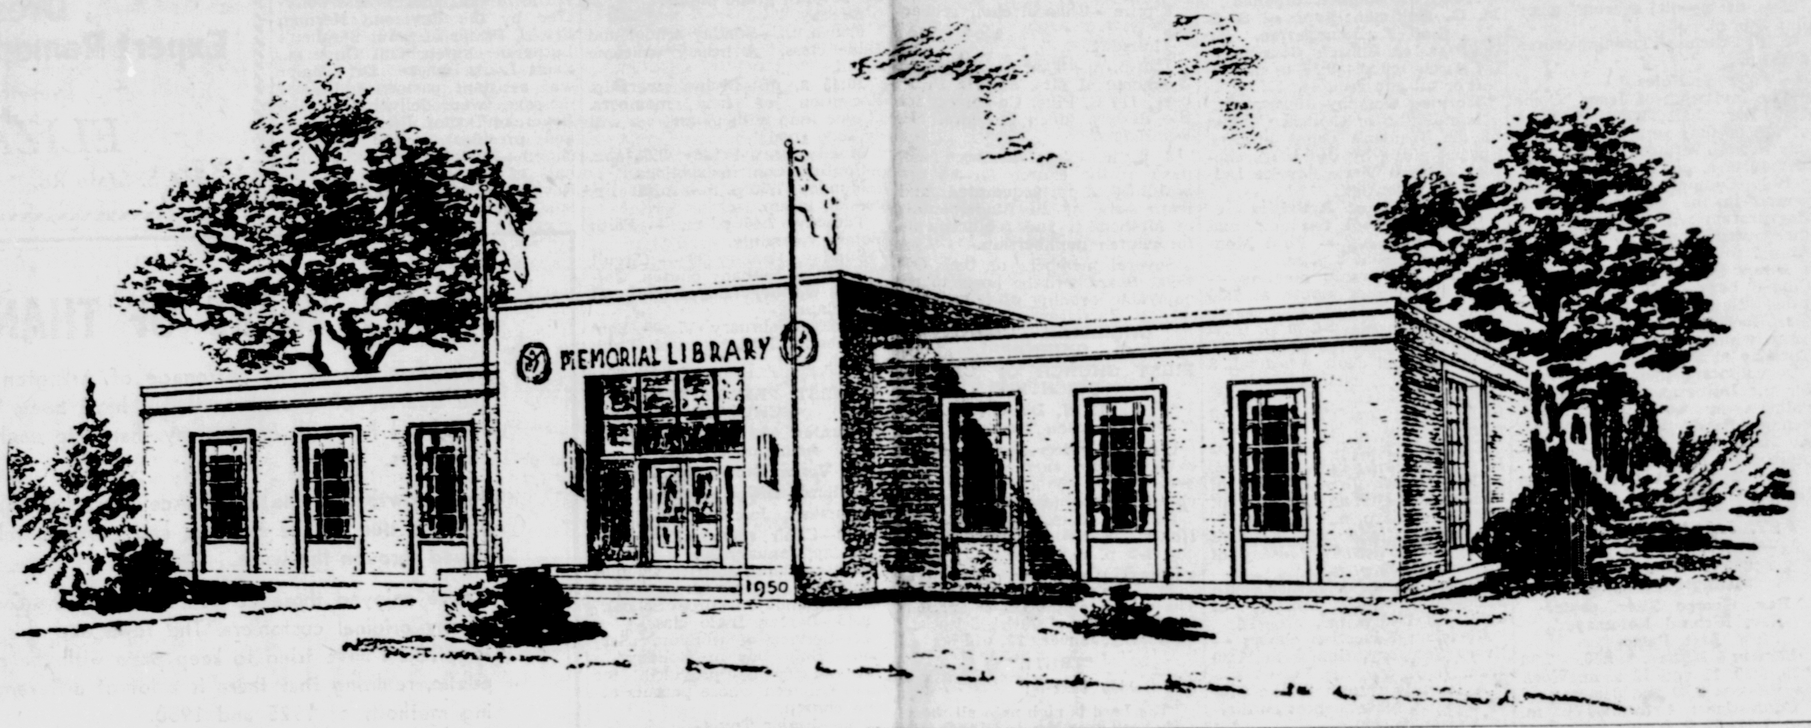

The building will be 93 feet wide and 46 feet deep. The center of the building will be 15 ft. high which will permit erection of double stacks in the rear portion. Reading rooms will be on each side of the entrance hall, one for exclusive use of children. Space will be provided for an office, workroom and public and private toilets. A basement will be under the center portion of the building.

ARCHITECT KROEBER recommends that the structure be placed on a lot not less than 132x132, preferably near a park. It is designed to store 30,000 volumes, which is standard library specifications for a city of 10,000 to 12,000 persons. Reading rooms will accommodate 60 readers at a time.

According to the state law, the operation of a public library is handled by the library board, but funds come with the consent of and through the village board, which passes the enabling ordinances, calls the election, issues the bonds and lets the contract for the building.

MAYOR GOEDKE suggested to Pres. Patrick that a conference be held soon between the two bodies to discuss details and legal action to be taken. The village dads will hold a special meeting for that purpose.

Members of the library board are: Paul Patrick, president; Robert Dibble, Blanch Ashton, Erma Grose and Milton Burkhart.

Boy Scout fund drive set for February 6-12

An annual meeting of the Blackhawk District, Northwest Suburban Council of the Boy Scouts of America, was held Wednesday night at the Faith Lutheran church in Arlington Heights.

The meeting was attended by the district committee members, Scoutmasters and assistants, Cub masters and asssistants, and chairmen of Cub packs and Boy Scout units.

The 1950 Boy Scout Finance campaign was organized at this meeting. It is to be held February 6-12, which is National Boy Scout Week.

William F. Neumann will be chairman for the Arlington Heights campaign, it was announced by Arthur W. Blaschke, Blackhawk District finance chairman.

Dunton owners to be heard at special meeting on street widening

All property owners on Dunton st., Arlington Heights, between Euclid and Sigwalt streets, are urged to attend the special meeting in regard to street widening being held at the village hall at 8 p. m. Monday. All owners have been notified by special letter.

The village engineer will be on hand to present estimates of costs of the proposed street widening and lighting along Dunton ave. Owners of property along that thoroughfare will have a chance to be heard at this meeting.

Masterpieces of art to be on exhibition here

A splendid opportunity for art education is offered in the exhibit of fine art prints, which will be on display next Tuesday at the Arlington Heights South school gym, at 7:30 p. m., and next Thursday at the North school auditorium at the same hour.

The collection consists of 150 masterpieces representing the French, Italian, Flemish, English, Dutch, Spanish, German, and American schools of art. Most of these are the masterpieces studied by the schools. Famous portraits, landscapes, marines, and pastoral scenes in the colors of the original canvases are on display.

In addition to the enjoyment of this collection visitors will assist the schools in raising a fund for the purchase of pictures for the buildings. The admission charge will be 14 cents for children and 35 cents for adults.

Tickets may be obtained from school children. The class selling the most tickets will receive a picture for their room.

During this exhibit there will be an opportunity for people to purchase prints for their own use. Anyone interested in purchasing a picture and donating it to the schools may do so at this time.

Coal crisis reaches here

Arlington Heights is near a coal crisis, worse than what many coal users realize. As this paper goes to press one of the large users of stoker coal is changing over to oill in order to keep the apartment building heated.

There is practically no stoker coal. Even church services were threatened, but arrival of a providential car relieved the situation in this instance.

COAL DEALERS are accepting almost any coal they can get. One dealer is making plans to crush a car now in transit in order to supply customers who can only burn screenings.

The railroad companies are taking cars consigned to dealers. By conservation methods and reciprocal supplying of needy customers of local dealers there has been no suffering up to the present time, but unless coal arrives within two weeks a "coal emergency will exist in Arlington Heights even if Truman says it does not exist in the United States.

"If coal users refrain from frenzied ordering of coal not needed today we can probably survive the crisis," said one dealer.

Aldermen agree town needs 'bit of polishing'

Several suggestions were made at Monday night's village board meeting in Arlington Heights, that, if carried out, should give the town a polished appearance.

Alderman Harry K. Robinson urged that something be done to improve the drives that run adjacent to the depots. It was decided to ask the Northwestern to furnish cinders and the village will grade the drives and spread the cinders.

ALDERMAN Wilbert C. Hartmann stressed that all dirt and gravel roads in Arlington Hts. should be given a good going over in the near future. This should include grading and regraveling of some surfaces.

Signs! signs! signs! Everywhere one looks, there are signs nailed on telephone poles, public service poles and two by fours throughout the village. All the aldermen agreed that action must be taken to clean up this mess before the town begins to look like an advertisement for a three-ring circus.

SEVERAL BUILDINGS in the village will also be taken under consideration for condemnation. Reports have reached the board that these buildings are unfit for human habitation. An investigation is being made.

Two hurt as autos hit stalled car

A stalled auto on the Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights, last Sunday night resulted in a three car smash-up, with two persons receiving head and back injuries. The accident occurred between Salem and Kasper aves.

Andrew Sacksen, 2357 N. Kenneth ave., Chicago, was having trouble with his car, which was parked on the highway without lights, and its occupants still inside. In the meantime another auto driven by Thomas Ullock, 502 N. Dryden ave., Arlington Heights, struck it in the rear and bounced off on the shoulder of the road.

Immediately following another auto driven by Robert Holsman, 60 E. Slade st., Palatine, also struck the Sacksen car in the rear.

Two occupants of the Sacksen car, Mr. and Mrs. F. Togersen, were injured and taken to Dr. R. Muench for treatment.

All autos were badly wrecked, although Ullock was able to drive his car away from the scene. Arlington Fender and Body shop cleared the wreckage.

CENTURY CLUB DANCE, SAT.

Saturday night is the date of the big Century club dance, which will be held at the Arlington Heights field house, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

Music for regular dancing and the increasingly popular square dances will be furnished by Homer's Melody Makers. This affair is open to the public and tickets will be sold at the door. Admission is $1.25.

Police join forces to catch school thieves

The latest escapade of the "school burglars" in this area took place at the Central school in Des Plaines, January 8, where the thieves did plenty of damage, but got only $30 in cash.

Chief Carl H. Skoog of the Arlington Heights police department said that it is believed it is the same gang who entered two of the Arlington Heights schools recently, as well as schools in Wheeling, Ela, Park Ridge and Elk Grove. The police from these towns are working together to solve the burglaries.

The Elk Grove school was entered before Christmas and a loss of $95 was reported, with little damage outside of the wrecked vault.

In each instance the methods of entry into the building and of getting at the money boxes seem to follow the same pattern. Cash was also the main purpose of the burglary in each case, as no equipment or other valuable materials were taken.

The Des Plaines burglary disclosed that one of the thieves wore an 8½ or 9 shoe, which was the size of a foot print left on a davenport.

March of Dimes campaign starts here

Mrs. W. C. Hartmann, Arlington Heights, chairman of Infantille Paralysis fund announced this week that dime folders are being mailed to all car owners. The usual cans will be distributed about town to receive dimes and quarters of the general public.

Last summer's epidemic was the worst in history. The fund was depleted and $89,000,000 had to be borrowed from the National Epidemic Aid fund. The goal for this community has not been announced but Chicago and vicinity has been asked to raise $650,000.00.

Contributions can be mailed to March of Dimes, 208 North Dunton ave., Arlington Heights.

Receive first U.S. refund checks

Frank Minarik, 712 Kensington road, Arlington Heights, was one of those of this area who received his government insurance refund check this week. The check was dated Jan. 16 and he received it that day.

The last three digits, of serial numbers determine the order of payment. His was "017".

Minarik immediately deposited his $154 check. He told the reporter, "I have placed it where it will have plenty of company—funds saved from my army pay."

Minarik was in the armed forces 2 years, four months and saw a year of active duty in Europe.

While the postal department is making every effort to guard against theft of the checks, veterans who are expecting them are asked to have their mail boxes locked.

Community Council asks transfer of $11,000 trust fund

The nest egg for the proposed Arlington Heights war memorial library building had its beginning in 1943 when the business men who had heretofore operated the July 4th celebration, relinquished their claim to the Civilian Defense Council. All organizations cooperated in the celebration, the net receipts of which were $3,567.

By 1944 the war had progressed to such a point that the need for Defense Council was not so great and the Community Council was organized as a clearing house of all community activities. Membership in the new organization comprised the same groups as in the Defense Council. The net receipts of that year's celebration amounted to $6,300, the major share of which was added to the war memorial fund.

THE SAME PLAN was followed in 1945, 1946 and 1947 when the Community Council, under the stress of demands of other organizations that they "wanted-a-finger-in-the-pie," released their claims to the July 4th date.

The council, in addition to setting aside the major portion of July 4th profits to the war memorial fund, made substantial contributions to the recreational fund of the park and the youth center.

The designation of a library building as the war memorial was made in October 1946. Other projects considered as worthy war memorials at that time were a hospital and lights for the park recreational field, an airport, a band shell, and a specially landscaped thoroughfare.

WALTER KROEBER advised the council at that time that a library building would cost between $65,000 and $75,000. His present figure is $75,000 to $80,000, exclusive of land.

The other requirements mentioned at that time by Kroeber as needed for a standard library building have not changed except that Arlington Heights has 2,000 more inhabitants and needs the library building more than ever.

Dr. B. T. Best is chairman of the trustees handling the memorial fund. Other members include Walter Krause, treasurer, and Arthur Franzen.

Reserved tickets on sale at high school for DeKalb game

Reserved seat tickets for the Arlington-DeKalb basketball game can be secured at the local high school office this week, with just 176 seats available. The office will be open until 2 p. m. Saturday afternoon for the convenience of fans desiring to attend the contest starting at 7 p. m. in the DeKalb college gym.

Athletic director Wally Grace warned fans not to attempt to go to DeKalb unless they had previously purchased reserved tickets.

Breakfast club honors William Reese, charter member

Wm. F. Reese, Arlington Hts. hardware merchant the past 25 years, was the surprise guest of the Breakfast Club, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

The gang gathered at the Arlington Cafe, where flowers and favors decorated the tables with an anniversary cake as the center piece. The 20 men present were those who, from time to time, have the habit of "dropping in" at the Cafe at the appointed hour to take their "coffee and."

They needed no second invitation to honor Bill Reese. They were ready and waiting when Reese unsuspectingly walked in as the boys sang "happy anniversary."

During the social hour that followed the refreshments, Friend Bill told some of his experiences in the quarter of a century that he has been an Arlington Heights business man.

IT WAS SIX YEARS earlier, about 1924, that Reese asked the late Otto Landmeier for a job. He got it at 20c an hour, ten hours a day. He received occasional increases in pay and other emoluments, but when Bill asked for his last raise, Mr. Landmeier's reply was, "you will only spend it." It was then that Bill decided to try it on his own.

The Krause business block had just been erected. Mr. Reese moved into the place now occupied by the liquor store. It was not longe before that store became as crowded with merchandise as his present one. The building boom was on and Mr. Reese erected his three story business block on the highway.

"Those were the days before hardware stores became a five and ten," Reese told the boys Saturday. "It was not uncommon for a contractor to leave a bill of hardware needed on a job in the morning and carry it out that same day. Payment for the hardware was also almost as prompt."

GONE ARE THOSE days, but Bill Reese has the same smile and is still the friend of everybody. As word of his anniversary got around, more and more telephone calls are being received by him.

Mr. Reese was the the son of Henry Reese, born on a Rand road farm in Palatine township. He has two daughters and two sons-in-law ready to take over, if and when Bill decides to retire.

JULIUS D. FLENTIE was missed at the celebration. He was one of the charter members of the Breakfast Club, but now lives in Arcadia, Calif.

Mystery thriller to be first play of new Village Theatre

The production staff for "Night Must Fall," by Emlyn Williams, the first show of Village Theatre, Inc., Arlington Heights, is being announced this week. The play will be given February 3 and 4 at 8:15 p. m. at South school.

R. Dennis Malcomson is technician for the play and Mrs. Malcomson is stage manager. Crew heads include Mrs. Hazel McElhose, costumes; Mrs. A. Douglas Anderson, house; Paul Breitsprecher, lighting; Mrs. Edward Raichert, properties, and David Breitsprecher, sound.

"NIGHT MUST FALL" deals with an ill-tempered old lady who takes a fancy to a charming, yet mysterious young man and invites him into her home as a servant-companion. What happens when a headless body is found buried in the yard makes for an exciting and intriguing evening of theatre.

Tickets for "Night Must Fall" may be obtained from any member of the Village Theatre or of the Youth Center, which is cooperating with the theatre group in ticket sales and which will receive 50 cents on each ticket they sell. The price of tickets is $1.00, including federal tax.

Vronsky and Bobin, piano duo, please large audience

Last Sunday evening, Vronsky and Babin, said to be the most brilliant two-piano team of our generation, thrilled the large audience that attended the second of a series of four concerts being presented this season by the Arlington Heights Community Concert Association.

Residents of Inverness, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Palatine, Wheeling and Arlington Heights are enjoying the opportunity of belonging to this organization which is bringing the finest artists in the music field to this area. The Vronsky and Babin concert was one of the high points of piano artistry brought to the appreciative gathering at the Arlington Heights Township high school auditorium.

VITYA VRONSKY and Victor Babin, born in Russia, merged careers in Berlin where both studied with the eminent pianist, Artur Schnabel. Arriving in America in 1937, the couple quickly established themselves in the musical world, and subsequent annual tours have made this team favorites in this country and in Europe.

Works written expressly for two pianos were featured in Vronsky and Babin's Sunday evening recital. These included Mozart's "Sonata in D Major," one of the most important works in the entire two-piano repertoire; Rachmaninoff's "Fantaisie, Opus 5," dedicated to Tchaikowsky by the composer and played personally for Rachmanioff by Vronsky and Babin on their first American tour; Liszt's "Concerto Pathetique in E Minor," with its inimitable pathos, drama, and poetic lyricism; and von Weber's "Rondo, Opus 3" with its great beauty and brilliance.

THE FAMILIAR "Hora Staccato," transcribed for two pianos by Jascha Heifitz and dedicated to this great piano team was played. Babin's own composition "Etude," one of a set of six, showed some of the intricate problems of two-piano playing, namely those of the double-note technique synchronization. His transcription of "Danse Russe" from "Petrouchka" concluded the programmed numbers. However, in response to the enthusiastic applause of the audience, the artists played several short encores, including the lovely Brahm's "Waltz in A Flat."

Gale Blocki, Jr., president of the Community Concert Association, announced a change in the artist to appear at the next scheduled concert on February 26. Frances Yeend, mezzo-soprano of eminence, will replace Eva Gustafson, Swedish contralto, whose illness prevents her appearance in this country.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 22, will be:

"TRUTH"

The Golden Text is:

"The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth" (Ps. 145: 18).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon, the following are from the Bible:

"Shew me thy ways, O Lord; teach me thy paths. Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou are the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day . . . The meek will he guide in judgment: and the meek will he teach his way. All the paths of the Lord are mercy and truth unto such as keep his covenant and his testimonies" (Ps. 25: 4, 5, 9, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Since the author's discovery of the might of Truth in the treatment of disease as well as of sin, her system has been fully tested and has not been found wanting; but to reach the heights of Christian Science, man must live in obedience to its divine Principle . . . By thousands of well-authenticated cases of healing, she and her students have proved the worth of her teachings . . . Its purpose is good, and its practice is safer and more potent than that of any other sanitary method . . . Jesus said, 'Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God' (Truth)" (pp. Pref. vii, x, 341).

Dr. Walter Maier buried in St. Louis

The funeral of the Reverend Doctor Walter Arthur Maier, Lutheran Hour speaker for seventeen seasons since the very beginning of this radio mission, took place Saturday, January 14, at 2:00 p. m. The service was held in the chapel of Concordia Theological Seminary, 801 De Mun ave., Saint Louis.

Dr. Maier's body lay in state at Concordia Theological Seminary chapel from 10:00 a. m. Friday, January 13.

The funeral address was delivered by the Reverend Herman Etzold, Pastor of Saint Stephen's Lutheran church, 4301 Olive st., Saint Louis, where Dr. Maier was assistant pastor. Additional messages were delivered by the Reverend Doctor John W. Behnken, president of the Lutheran church—Missouri Synod, on behalf of the church body; the Reverend Professor Doctor William Arndt, head of the New Testament Department, on behalf of the Seminary faculty; and Dr. Eugene R. Bertermann, on behalf of the Lutheran Hour.

The Concordia Seminary Lutheran Hour Chorus and the Saint Louis Lutheran Hour Chorus gave musical selections. Attending the funeral services in a body were the clergy of greater Saint Louis, the faculty and students of the Seminary, and the Lutheran Hour staff.

A voluntary Memorial Wreath is being gathered by the membership and friends of St. Peter Ev. Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, "The Church of the Lutheran Hour," in memory of Dr. Walter A. Maier, to be designated for the promotion of the Lutheran Hour. The broadcasts will continue every Sunday over the Mutual network at 11:30 a. m. and over the American Broadcasting Company's network at 3 p. m. Transcriptions may be heard over WCFL every Sunday at 9 p. m.

25 YEARS OF THANK YOUS

In recognition of the patronage of Arlington Heights people during the quarter of a century that I have been in business in Arlington Heights I herewith express my thanks to each and every one of my customers.

Any growth that the Reese Ace Store has experienced during the 25 years is due to the business and personal relationship that has continued through the years.

I have enjoyed those 25 years, serving the sons and daughters today of my original customers. The town and this Ace store have grown together. I have tried to keep pace with the growing demands of the public, realizing that there is a lot of difference between merchandising methods of 1925 and 1950.

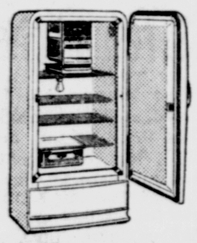

As I look backward over those years, I recall many faces of many families who were my friends. A continuation of that friendship through the coming years is my hope and that I may continue to be a Servant to the Public.

The Library corner

"The Complete Book of Garden Magic," by Roy E. Biles, was recently presented to the Arlington Heights Public Library by the Conservation and Garden Department of the Arlington Hts. Woman's club in memory of Mrs. Mary Jane Baxter, former librarian.

This is an attractive and helpful volume, presenting the kind of information amateur gardeners need, in the way in which they can best make use of and benefit from it. It is designed to help them avoid common mistakes and get the most from the money and effort expended. It tells how to plan a flower garden or landscape a yard in the most beautiful, successful way—how to recognize various plant diseases and pests and what to do about them, and how to eliminate guess work in all phases of gardening.

There is a chapter on "The Amteur Greenhouse," one on "Window Boxes," and another on "House Plants." The last chapter is entitled "Calendar of Garden Operations," listing what to do each month in the year.

Begin now, planning the garden you have always wanted, and let this book help you to make all your garden dreams come true.

Blame the weather man for non-skating this year

Arlington Heights skaters should blame the freak winter weather this year for non-skating. Alvin Blum, superintendent of the park says he is as sorry as the kids. Ground must be frozen sufficiently to hold the water before a start can be made. Monday the thermometer was below freezing but water sprayed on the rink thawed out the ground allowing the water to run off.

In order to better understand the pupils they are teaching, the homeroom teachers of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the Arlington Heights Public Schools have scheduled individual conferences with all parents during the weeks beginning January 16 and January 23.

DURING THESE two weeks, the fifth grade will be dismissed during the last period of the day. Sixth, seventh and eighth grade classes will be dismissed at that time only if they have a class with their homeroom teacher during the last period of the day beginning at 2:40 p. m.

Educators agree that an adequate course of instruction makes provision for individual differences. Teachers are becoming increasingly conscious of individual needs. In order to plan an educational program on a rational basis it is necessary to have more knowledge about the child than mere academic progress.

THE CHILD is in the process of developing. He is on his way to maturity. He carries deep traces of his past and contains premonitions of the future. He is in transition. Growth and development is continuous, and therefore is not confined to the school or the home, but is a product of the individual's total environment.

Thus parent-teacher conferences can do much to facilitate understanding of children. This procedure offers invaluable aid to teachers in their efforts to provide for individual differences and in meeting the social needs of children as well as their academic needs.

More local Talent Teens on TV show Monday

Six more members of the Des-Mount-Arl Talent Teens appeared on WENR-TV last Monday night. The Teens, under the direction of Mrs. Daisy Bosch, consist of youngsters from Arlington Heights, Des Plaines and Mount Prospect.

Those appearing on the Monday night show were: Wanda Eakins, Phyllis Thompson, Marilyn Kyska, Bob Slottag, Joanne Zelaski and Gilbert Haase. This was the second time Gilbert has appeared on the TV Talent parade.

Insurance film to educate students at high school assembly

So that students from the Arlington Heights Township high school will face the future economy wise, bank wise, and insurance wise, a series of special assemblies are being held to acquaint them with the important facts of these subjects.

A film, "For Some Must Watch," will be shown this Friday at a 2 p. m. assembly for the entire student body. It is being brought to the school through the courtesy of the Great West Life Assurance company, and will be introduced by V. H. Beisler, local representative.

The film uses the documentary technique of telling its story within the framework and setting of reality. The home and community life depicted are recognizably real, and characters in the film are real citizens of the town.

There are some fine photographic moments in the film, particularly the exterior shots of the town at night and in the morning. There are also excellent scenes (the railway accident for example) which make this much more than a run-of-the-mill "free film."

Mr. Beisler will stress the importance of learning to save money and making a habit of it, to assure making retirement possible with no financial worries. He says, "People go through life working for money—somewhere along the line they should make money work for them."

Here Is Another Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Were Wrong!

Ever since the anti-trust lawyers filed their suit to put A&P out of business, they have been making, in the newspapers and over the radio, various "allegations" about how they think this company does business.

Please remember that "allegations" are charges that have not been proved.

In this case they will be disproved.

There have been times in the past when the anti-trust lawyers made very damaging "allegations" about this company that the courts eventually decided were utterly without foundation.

In our last advertisement we told you about the time the anti-trust lawyers charged that A&P, two other food chains and two labor unions conspired to fix the price of bread in Washington, D. C.

And yet, when this case came to trial, it was revealed that the defendants were actually selling bread cheaper than most other stores in Washington, and there was absolutely no evidence that they had ever engaged in any such "alleged" conspiracy.

That was the time Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

It was the time he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all.

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

But this was not the only time that the anti-trust lawyers made such serious "allegations" against A&P which were false.

Again, and still again, they brought cases against A&P and suffered defeat.

As we have said, we think you are entitled to know about these other cases. And now, we are going to tell you about the second time the anti-trust lawyers were wrong.

The North Carolina Potato Case

In December, 1941, the anti-trust lawyers brought a criminal suit in Wilson, North Carolina.

They charged that A&P's fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, and other good American citizens, had conspired to fix and depress prices paid farmers for potatoes in North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland.

Can anyone imagine any charge calculated to be more damaging to a retail grocery business that must rely on farmers, day after day, for the food we distribute to our customers?

In this case the anti-trust lawyers gave a story to the newspapers, telling millions of farmers that we were the kind of people who would force their prices down, deprive them of a decent income, and lower their families' living standard.

These charges were false.

They made these charges despite the fact that it has always been A&P's policy to pay our farm suppliers fair market prices for all produce; to aid agriculture through better distribution of its products; to narrow the spread between farm and retail prices; and to help farmers build better markets for their products.

That is why many thousands of farmers all over the country are now coming to our support.

When the case finally came to trial, the anti-trust lawyers put on as their first witness a potato expert of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This expert, who was the anti-trust lawyers' own witness, testified that contrary to the anti-trust lawyers' "allegations," the defendants made every effort to help the Department of Agriculture in its efforts to aid the potato farmer in better marketing of his products and in getting a better price for his products.

When the anti-trust lawyers had put in their evidence and had argued their case Federal Judge C. C. Wyche directed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

Judge Wyche said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"I have studied this case from the very outset. In my opinion there is no testimony produced from which it can reasonably be inferred that the defendants entered into a combination to depress or lower the price of potatoes.

"I might say that I never tried a case in my life where a greater effort, more work, more investigation had been done, combing almost with a fine-tooth comb to gather evidence, as was done in this case.

"But, as was said a long time ago, you can't make brick without straw, and you can't make a case without facts."

So, here was a case in which the anti-trust lawyers made seriously damaging charges against A&P in which the Judge decided that there were no facts to support those charges.

That is why we say the anti-trust lawyers can be wrong and have been wrong.

That is why we say that they are wrong again, just as they were wrong in the Washington bread case and the North Carolina potato case.

We are going to show the American people that the suit to destroy A&P is really a suit against efficiency and against real competition.

The real question involved in this suit is whether businessmen are going to be encouraged to do a better and more efficient job, or whether we are going to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow the whistle on anybody who gets big by giving the people more for their money.

No one can make us believe that it is a crime to try to sell the best quality food at the lowest possible price.

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

Milwaukee Show

That show held in Milwaukee last Sunday, January 15th, 1950 had some local folks there who entered their dogs both in confirmation and obedience.

The A. K. Penkava, Jr's. of Palatine, entered their year old wire haired fox terrier in the Novice B class in obedience, with the satisfaction of knowing that although "Mysty" did not quite come up to perfection he at least shows great promise as an obedience trained dog.

The show itself is one of the largest held in Wisconsin each year and is given by the Wisconsin Kennel Club at the Milwaukee auditorium.

Shows — coming up!

Speaking of shows brings to mind that this coming Sunday your dog editor will be in Joliet —Mother Nature and the weather permitting — to judge all hounds and best of hound group as well as Best In Match at the second sanctioned match of the Stone City Kennel club.

The following Sunday, January 29th, the North Shore Dog Training club's 10th annual all-breed obedience trial to be held at the Rainbow Arena in Chicago will have your editor's undivided attention.

Juvenile Jury

If you still follow the "Juvenile Jury" radio program heard on Sundays from 3:30 to 4:00 p. m. Eastern Standard Time over the Mutual network, you might be interested to know that the dogs to appear on the "Dog of the Week" spot featured by the show during the month of February include the Miniature Schnauzer for February 5th, the Doberman Pinscher for February 12th, the French Bulldog for February 19th and the Basset Hound for February 26th.

If you can tear yourself away from that T.V. set long enough to take a few minutes and listen to this program; some of the names that the youngsters think up for the dogs will give you a chuckle for many days.

Dog center

The center of the dog population in the United States is in the vicinity of Decatur, Ill., according to calculations by the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York. At least the dogs are moving out west according to a recent check, which is more than the average for humans whose center of population is in Indiana, and has been there for a good many years.

Grade, high teachers plan together; better prepare students for high school

Every third Monday of the month a Curriculum meeting is held at the Arlington Heights Township high school, which is attended by teachers from the high school and from elementary schools which feed the local high school.

Working as a clearing house for the discussion of common problems these meetings are a direct benefit for students preparing to enter the high school. Grade teachers are working hand in hand with high school teachers so that incoming students will be better qualified to enter the higher grades.

Each session handles different problems, and is attended by the teachers who are directly connected with the subject to be discussed. As an example: English teachers from the elementary schools ask the high school teachers which is the best amount of classic literature and how much grammar should be taught to best qualify a student for high school English.

This articulation—or planning together — makes the transfer from the elementary schools to high school much smoother, as the student is better prepared and more ready to undertake his high school subjects.

Beginning of U.S. Marines

FAVORITES For FLAVOR

by MARILYN McLENNAN

A new twist to an old favorite makes this recipe of mock chicken legs a real epicuran delight.

Mrs. Hugo J. Thal, 102 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights, who loves to cook and especially enjoys preparing decorative foods, gave this as her favorite recipe for mock chicken legs.

Long slices of veal wrapped around skewered pieces of well seasoned pork or lamb are shaped to simulate drumsticks. Rolled in bread crumbs, dipped in whipped eggs, these mock chicken legs are thoroughly browned and slowly cooked to enhance their delicious flavor.

"My young grandson asks for mock chicken legs every time he visits our home," smile Mrs. Thal who has used this recipe many times.

As we continued our conversation in Mrs. Thal's colorful gray and yellow kitchen, she displayed a platter of exquisitely decorated spiced tea cakes that she planned to serve at a tea that afternoon.

An unusual way to serve chicken croquettes was also suggested by Mrs. Thal. She shapes the croquette mixture into miniature chickens and places them in the refrigerator over night. Prior to serving, she browns them in deep fat. Cloves for eyes and cooked beet slices for combs are added last and give the touch that children like, said Mrs. Thal.

Mock Chicken Legs

1½ pounds veal steak, sliced thin
½ pound pork shoulder or pork tenderloin or lamb steak, sliced thick
1 beaten egg to which 1 tablespoon water is added
¼ cup water
Salt, pepper, bread crumbs

Place wooden skewer through a 2-inch piece of pork or lamb. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and roll a long strip of veal steak over it shaping to form a drumstick. Hold in place wherever necessary with wood pins. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Roll in bread crumbs, then dip in egg and then again in crumbs.

Brown the mock chicken legs on all sides over a medium flame. After meat is thoroughly browned, place it on a trivet. Add water to drippings in pan, cover and let cook slowly on top of stove about 1½ to 2 hours, or until tender, depending on quality of meat and size of legs.

The meat may be baked in a covered pan at 350 degrees F. for about an hour and a half.

A new sound-color film, "They Follow On," will be shown at the Prospect Heights Bible church, January 22, at 6:30 p. m.

Premiered recently before an audience of 3,300 in Chicago, "They Follow On" is a 30-minute story based on the experiences of a young Bible student. ## Outlet for school problems found thru public hearings

R. E. Clabaugh, Superintendent of Arlington Heights Public schools, was among the school officials attending the public hearing in the Chicago office of the Board of Education last Saturday. Mr. Clabaugh was there as a representative of the Superintendent's Round Table of Northern Illinois.

All attending have an opportunity to present information and opinions on the problems being discussed.

At present the commission is working on the following problems: Changes in State Aid formula to promote desirable reorganization of school districts; State Aid for transportation, particularly the desirability of including a sparsity factor in allotting transportation aid; problems which may arise with respect to the elimination of non-high school districts and non-operating districts.

THE ORGANIZATION and financing of community or junior college and nursery schools; the possibility of consolidation of the various tax levies into a single levy and particularly the consolidation of levies for educational and building purposes; improvements in school budgetary and accounting practices; problems which arise in the school township organization, particularly where enlarged school districts are created; and needs for further codification and revisions in school laws.

The commission will also make recommendations to the Budgetary Commission prior to October 1, 1950 as to the amount of State Aid required for the biennium beginning July 1, 1951.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

It isn't necessary to tell the mothers who have boys on the teams just how great is basketball fever at the Arlington Heights public schools. Nor is it necessary to tell this to the mothers of the seventh and eighth grade girls who make up red-and-white cheerleading squad. And it probably isn't necessary even to tell a mother who simply has children in the upper grades — everyone, it seems, wants to see Arlington play.

The game we saw last Friday afternoon (the boys practice and play in the afternoon because the school officials feel it is better for such young boys not to compete at night) pitted both the light and heavyweight teams against teams from Lincoln school in Park Ridge, and to say they acquitted themselves nobly is to put it mildly.

These grade-schoolers really take their basketball seriously, at the same time getting a great deal of pleasure out of it, and they look forward to their practice sessions almost as much as to their actual games.

The 11 top players making up the heavyweight team and the equal number on the lightweight squad aren't the only ones interested and active in the sport. Many more from the upper grades participate in intramural games, played under real game conditions and for a team championship. The teams are equalized as much as possible to make for better competition and the rivalry is, of course, great.

The seventh and eighth grade girls aren't slighted in the least for they, too, play intramural basketball under the same conditions as the boys, meeting one night a week after school. To decide the championship the girls have divided up into five teams, each of which will play all the others twice. In the case of both boys and girls the teams are made up of North and South school people intermingled.

To go back to those cheerleaders—they were chosen by tryouts by Miss Barry, head of girls' physical ed—they emulate in maneuvers and enthusiasm the cheerleaders one sees in high schools, and, spread out the full length of one side of the South school gym, they give a colorful picture.

The seating capacity of the South school gym, where games are played, is sufficiently limited that only one row of chairs can be placed along the walls and many boys and girls range themselves on the floor or stage at the ends. But the crowded condition doesn't dull their enthusiasm in the least!

So, mom, if your son or daughter comes home just in time for dinner these nights, don't worry, it's just because—to borrow one of the cheers—We've got the coach, and we've got the team; we've got the pep and we've got the steam—Arlington!"

People are talking about

What to take at night school! With a course for every taste—and often two or three—the problem is not whether to go to night school but rather which course to choose!

Bloodhounds

The uninitiated may call the bloodhound's expression mournful. Actually, say fanciers of the breed, this canine aristocrat wears a "noble look of solemnity, dignity and power."

NEW NEIGHBORS .... IN THE CITY OF GOOD NEIGHBORS

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bussing
314 N. Lincoln Lane

Recent newcomers in the scenic Eastwood area of Arlington Heights are Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bussing and their little daughter, Julie. The Bussings moved into their new ranch style home October 22 of last year.

Formerly of Detroit, Mich., they are well satisfied with their attractive home and Arlington Heights, which appealed to them more than any other town in this area.

Brown-eyed, 3 year old, Julie, has just returned from a two week visit with her grandparents in southern Illinois. She likes to draw and enjoys playing in the wide-open spaces around their home. Her special playmate is Elaine Hanna, daughter of the second set of new neighbors featured today.

"Getting settled in our home has been my major hobby," smiled Mrs. Bussing. "My husband is a photography enthuiast and especially likes to take pictures of children and nature," she continued.

Mr. Bussing is employed at Montgomery Ward as service manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hanna
906 E. St. James St.

Neighbors of the Bussings and also new home owners in the Eastwood subdivision are Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hanna and their 3 year old daughter, Elaine.

Transferred from Syracuse, N. Y., Robert Hanna and his family moved into their 5-room ranch style home November 1. After careful consideration of 7 or 8 suburbs in this area, the Hannas decided that Arlington Heights had the most to offer them.

"The availability of homes, and the excellent commuter transportation, were two of the most appealing features," said Mr. Hanna.

"We like the friendliness of the people in Arlington Heights and enjoy the monthly meetings of the Eastwood community group," she continued.

"Mary's hobby is Elaine," laughed Mr. Hanna, "and I enjoy color photography."

Mr. Hanna, a tube sales engineer for General Electric, is a graduate of the Missouri School of Mines and a native of Centralia, Ill. His wife, a graduate of Syracuse university, calls Syracuse her home town.

Public hearing called to make change in zoning ordinance

Officers of the Crop-Saver Chemical Co., who propose building a factory adjacent to the Arlington Heights disposal plant, appeared before the village board Monday night to present a petition for a variation in the zoning ordinance.

Though the area is zoned for industry, the ordinance has certain specifications as to what type of industries can be operated. A thorough investigation of the Chicago plant of this company was previously made by an appointed committee and it was learned it would not be a detriment to either the village sewers or the residents in that section.

The board referred the petition to the Zoning Board of Appeals, who in turn have called a public hearing for February 3, at 8 p. m., at the village hall. All persons interested will be given an opportunity to be heard.

Bob Koeppen appeared before the board in behalf of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, seeking permission to hold their annual carnival July 26-30. The request was granted.

The aldermen also approved payment of bills and salaries totaling $7,841.74.

Arlington Heights man elected vestryman for St. Philip's, Palatine

A story of community cooperation seldom surpassed in the history of Palatine was unfolded Monday night at the first annual meeting of St. Philips with less than a year elapsed since the first meeting organizing the young Episcopal Mission into a parish, it was reported:

1. The parish numbers more than a hundred as full communicant members with many more in the younger brackets and among its friends.

2. With a first year budget that seemed already to be taxing the resources of the community, an every-member canvass late in 1949 oversubscribed by nearly $1,000.00, a budget twice as large as the previous one.

3. THE WOMEN'S organizations during the year engaged in at least 25 separate activities, earning and paying out on worthy projects more than $1,000.00.

4. The new church, less than a year after being completed at a cost in excess of $30,000.00 was within $2,000.00 of being completely paid for.

5. As an example of the place the new parish has taken in the community, no less than three girl scout troops are using the church as a meeting place, one of which is sponsored by the parish.

ELECTED TO lead the parish in its second year of service were: Senior warden, Becher Hungerford, Prairie View; junior warden, Emory Moore, Inverness; vestrymen, Stanley Pepper and Orville Warwick, Inverness; Alvan Skibbe, Arlington Heights; James Isham, Jackson Boughner, John French, Cmdr. John Weigle and Major Arthur Batty, Palatine.

Treasurer—E. W. Moore; Missionary treasurer, Mrs. Harold Tommen; clerk, Kenneth Fritzlar; auditor, Jackson Boughner.

Mrs John Weigle reported on activities of the Womans Auxiliary, Mrs. David Rotroff on the Altar Guild, and Mrs. Robert Angley on the choir. David Terrill presented a report of the parish's financial condition and Jackson Boughner described results of the every-member canvass.

Refreshments were served by ladies of the auxiliary.

24,000,000 Christians unite in appeal for world relief

More than 100,000 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches of 19 major denominations with a total membership of 24,479,953 are uniting in a concerted campaign for world relief, reconstruction, and inter-church aid. The program, "One Great Hour of Sharing," certain phases of which have begun and will come to a climax March 12 was announced here by Harper Sibley, prominent business man of Rochester, N. Y., who is campaign chairman.

First Presbyterian church, St. John's E. & R. church, and Methodist church, are all cooperating in this program in Arlington Heights.

Characterizing the project as a new development in practical church unity, Mr. Sibley stated that the people of Europe and Asia need continued material, financial, and spiritual assistance. In addition to extensive denominational programs, minimum requests for the coming year made to American churches through Church World Service by field workers handling relief and reconstruction projects amount to 36,000,000 pounds of clothing, food, vitamin, medicine and other contributed supplies, and $4,000,000 for educational and rehabilitation projects and other forms of reconstruction, he said.

The funds collected on Sunday March 12, will "aid neighborhood centers, orphanages, refugee centers, travelling medical clinics, feeding stations, schools, and other projects for the world's millions of refugees and others suffering from past and present wars," according to Mr. Sibley. "Resettlement of Displaced Persons, and assistance for the 'hard core' of DPs who will not be able to leave Germany, Austria, or Italy" are also part of the program that will be assisted.

Suggest new Masonic building as a 100th anniversary project

Vitruvius Masonic Lodge members of Wheeling think that no better way could be found to celebrate the 100th anniversary of that lodge than by starting plans for a new home.

No official action has been taken and plans are only in the talking stage, but there is a growing sentiment that the Masonic lodge needs a new home. An extension of the present business district from the bank corner south would be an asset to Wheeling.

As a preliminary step Worshipful Master Ray Lesch will be glad to receive offers for the present building, which can be easily moved. "It is too early for any publicity," Ray told the editor, "but a fair price offered for the present building might be the starting gun for a building campaign for a modern Masonic home and business block in Wheeling.

Men go to colors in dress says Lingren

"An up-to-date men's store today is almost as colorful as a women's dress shop," Fred Lingren told a reporter this week. "My customers are not only accepting new colors and styles, but are asking for them."

"A wife who was assisting her husband to buy some clothes here the other day said, 'he may be getting along in years, but I want him to look young. I do not want my friends to think that I am that old'."

"This trend, which started last year, is getting a firm foothold in 1950. Sportswear will be set off in bold block designs. When the white collar man gets home from the office and dons leisure clothes, the change to color will even give him more pep. His family will think that he is a good looking guy and will shower him with added attention.

"There are also changes in clothing for business wear. Designers of men's clothes do make changes you know. The two-button single breast model is taking place of the three-button."

"Tweeds," says Mr. Lingren, "have really caught on and will continue in popularity through the winter and spring, moving into what promises to be a very colorful summer."

Mechanic goes to school to study new Powerglide transmission

Approximately 10,000 mechanics from Chevrolet dealers' service departments throughout the nation are being trained thoroughly in the proper care of the new Powerglide transmission.

At least one mechanic from every dealership will attend a two-and-a-half-day New Product School, with the classes limited to six men. These men will be taught by factory-trained instructors, and will be given actual training in taking apart and putting together the new transmission, which is optional equipment on the 1950 Chevrolet passenger cars.

Sessions include training in other new mechanical developments including power-jet carburetor, hydraulic valve-lifters and the new 105-horsepower engine which accompanies the Powerglide transmission.

Arthur Behrens of Arlington Heights will be included in the classes in Chicago.

Wilson School Community News

Seventy friends and neighbors attended the Wilson PTA meeting last Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. W. Swander of Island Lake showed their film of the graduation exercises last May and all the parents enjoyed seeing their children on the screen. It was decided at the meeting to have a cherry pie a-la-mode social and card party the evening of George Washington's birthday February 22.

Many of the long-time residents were surprised and pleased to see Mrs. Jim Pies at the PTA meeting. Mrs. Pies is visiting her many friends in the neighborhood and will return to Spooner, Wis., some time next week. She was formerly a resident of Rand rd.

Duane Kingsley fell on the ice last Saturday while playing hockey and fractured his wrist.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Steiger of Chestnut rd., celebrated their eleventh wedding anniversary last week by going into Chicago to see the musical, "Kiss Me Kate."

An old time charvari was held on Mr. and Mrs. Leverne Gieske Saturday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Art Gieske of Kenosha, Wis. The Gieskes are former residents of Buffalo Grove rd. Those who attended from this neighborhood included Mr. and Mrs. Moskal, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Maierhofer, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Rickert, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elliott and daughter, Pauline, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gieske. Leverne's wife is from Florida and had never attended such a party. She thought the spirit of fun and friendliness was wonderful. The newlyweds received many beautiful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Ryan's son, Robert, will play an accordion solo at a recital to be held February 12 at Wilson Park field house, Chicago.

The Achievement club has purchased an additional set of rhythm band instruments for the lower grades as the enrollment has increased to such a degree that one set was insufficient. Mrs. Magnussen's room is pleased with the new set.

Edward Koelper's father, Herman Koelper Sr. of Wheeling, is in St. Francis hospital, Evanston.

Little Ronnie Kovalik has been in bed the past week with bronchial pneumonia. He had several visitors last Sunday, including Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jacobsen and his grandmother, Mrs. Antoinette Kovalik, of Des Plaines.

Lee Koelper was confined to his home for a few days with bronchitis.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, cousins of Mrs. Sundquist, visited the Carl Sundquists on their way back to Chicago after attending the Ski Meet at Cary last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sundquist were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Maierhoefer last Sunday evening.

Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Howe and daughters, Christina, three years old, and Justina, six years old, who are newcomers to this neighborhood. Miss Russin from Chicago was their week end guest, and they all attended the PTA meeting to get acquainted. Justina attends the Wilson school and is in first grade.

There will be another party at the school February 4 at 8:00 o'clock. Tickets are available from any PTA member. Proceeds will be used to buy chairs for the schoolhouse.

DETERMINED ARLINGTON UPSETS UNBEATEN CRYSTAL LAKE

Cards hold Raywood and outplay mates

by RON PRELLBERG

One of the most surprising upsets in Northern Illinois basketball was staged last Saturday night when 12 undiscourageable lads left their home town of Arlington Heights to travel to Crystal Lake, where they dealt the mighty, Lakers a 38 to 33 whipping through four quarters of rugged play.

Much credit is due Bob Evans, Bill Morrison, Jim Brown, and Don Larsen and every other Cardinal cager who participated, especially little Gordon Busse who out-faked, out-hustled and out-shot his opponents to emerge with an astonishing total of 16 markers. This game should prove to be a stimulant to the Heights boys and Coach Gene Bell who had worked even harder the preceding week to overcome the overwhelming odds.

A brilliant job of defense was displayed by the local charges as they assisted Cardinal center Don Larsen, in holding the highly-rated Phil Raywood to not more than 14 markers.

A 10-POINT margin favoring the locals separated the two teams the first quarter, 14-4. An excess of rebounding on the part of the Cardinals helped them swish the net for five baskets and four free-throws during the first segment while in the second frame the Red Birds were able to record only one field goal and three charities. The first half found the Arlingtonites collecting more than their share of the fouls with Larsen and Busse becoming the hardest hit with three apiece.

Majority of the local scoring for the opening half, centered around Busse and Evans who hit for a total of 12 counters, while for the Lakers Ken Kettelson and Jim Franz took the home team's early scoring lead.

A moderate press was applied by the Tigers in the third period as the Arlington squad took the floor with a 6-point advantage, but it was destined to be of no help as the home quintet gained a mere one marker on the Cards this period, thus leaving our boys with a five point lead. A heads up ball game by Gordon Busse netted Gordon three field goals, boosting his total to 13 before the Cards took the floor in the final and deciding frame.

A NOTICEABLE scare was thrown into the laps of the local fans when the Crystal Lake Tigers came within two points of tying the hard working quintet from Arlington, but a few minutes later a feeling of relief hung over the crowd when the Red Bird lead was again increased to five markers, 38-33.

The dimmer side of the picture, however, was expressed through a preliminary tilt in which a temporarily organized JV squad met with their masters when they bowed out to a 44-31 victory in favor of the Lakers. Twenty-one of the Red Birds' total of 31 markers were shared between Ron Tossman and Jay Vawter, with Tossman claiming 15.

A meek first quarter faced the local quintet but by the end of the second frame the Cards had added a total of 14 points to their first period showing of two. The 19 counters made good by the Lakers put them in front with a three-point advantage, as the buzzer tolled the end of the first half.

A series of long shots found their mark for the home team through the seven minutes of the third frame, thus strengthening the victors' lead over their opponents to a deciding eight

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

Hats off this week to the Arlington Cardinals for doing the impossible, beating undefeated Crystal Lake 38-33 Saturday night. Last week we mentioned that we would pick Gordon Busse, the Arlington midget, over the big men we had seen this year. We think that little Gordon certainly must have established a like conviction in the minds of Arlington fans after they saw the Crystal Lake game. Busse, a great competitor when the chips are down, came through with 16 points for one of the major upsets in Illinois High School ball this past week. Crystal Lake had earned a 14th rating spot among the prep teams of Illinois. Regardless of the won and lost record of the Cards this year, and they are fighting hard to get a .500 percentage, the victory Saturday night has made the season a successful one. It may be just the tonic the Cards need to whip some more top ranking teams of which they have plenty on this year's schedule.

Argo has one of best suburban cage teams

One of the most under rated cage teams in Illinois is Argo of the South Suburban league. The Argonauts are undefeated and have beaten every member of their league as well as a number of the better teams of the Suburban and West Suburban loops. One of their better performers is Bob Wingo, son of the high school principal.

High scoring in all cage circles Saturday night

Last Saturday night was an unusual one for individual high scoring in basketball games. Ron Bontemps, Beloit College center, scored 57 points to break the Midwest Conference record of 38 which he himself held as Beloit ran wild over Monmouth College 122-43. Bontemps hit 22 out of 39 attempts from the field and 13 out of 15 from the charity line for an amazing scoring total for college ball. In high school he led Taylorville to the Illinois state title.

In the Big 10 the scoring sensation of the week was Frank Calsbeek of Iowa, who tallied 15 field goals and two free throws for 32 points as Iowa upset favored Indiana 65-64 at Iowa City. Indiana with 10 straight non-league wins was favored to take the Big 10 title but have lost two out of three to date due to hot shooting by Michigan and Iowa.

On the pro cage scene George Mikan, that automatic scoring center of the Minneapolis Lakers, scored 51 points but his team lost 83-77 to the Rochester Royals who lead the central division.

Anderson takes scoring lead in NW Conference

On the high school front locally Gerald Anderson, who last year took the Northwest Conference scoring crown, tallied 25 points to take the current scoring lead away from Eddie Prouty of Ela. Anderson made nine baskets and seven free throws against Grant while Prouty had a poor night with only six points at Northbrook where his team hit the skids for their second defeat in 12 games. Don Klein, Palatine's hard working forward took over third place by scoring 19 points in the Antioch game.

Crucial games ahead for Bisons and Palatine Pirates

The next two weekends will tell the tale in the Northwest Conference. This Friday second place Ela plays third place Bensenville and third place Palatine engages fourth place Northbrook. Next week Bensenville takes on undefeated Barrington while Ela and Palatine clash. The Bisons and Pirates both have a chance to move up to second place if they can continue their winning ways but it won't be easy.

Glad to learn that Arlington grade school has athletic program

We were happy to read the splendid article on last week's sport page describing the physical education and athletic program at the Arlington Heights grade schools. We certainly had not heard about this program before and are glad to hear that such a plan is underway.

Here in Palatine a start is also being made and a basketball game will be played this week between Arlington and Palatine grade school boys. We do not believe in grade school boys playing a heavy schedule of games.

Certainly both communities

Arlington out to gain victory at DeKalb Saturday

by BOB PADDOCK

Arlington's Cardinals, after pulling the upset of the week at Crystal Lake last Saturday, travel to DeKalb this week end to meet the Barbs in a game that could well bring victory again for Coach Gene Bell's stalwarts, providing they play the heads up ball they did against the Lakers.

The Barbs, who captured their own holiday tournament last season and were just out of the running for the Sweet Sixteen in the spring of '49, copped second place in the most recent DeKalb tourney, losing to West Aurora. They have on their roster one of the better small prep basketball stars in Ethan Overmeyer. Saturday night's fracas is sure to be Overmeyer vs. Busse, with both boys rated tops in northern Illinois.

STARTING TIME for the preliminary contest is 7 p. m. Local frosh-sophs are slated to take the floor at that time on the college floor.

Preliminary contest is equally important as far as DeKalb fans are concerned, with the host school's undefeated frosh-soph aggregation shooting for their tenth win in a row. A 6'5" center and two 6'2" forwards are indications of things to come for the yearlings this year, and the varsity two years hence.

Following week the Cards go to Libertyville Friday, with games at Leyden and Belvidere February 3-4 completing the five game "road trip."

GRAND TOTAL of 176 reserved seat tickets are on sale at Arlington Heights high school office for the game. Fans are cautioned not to attempt to drive to DeKalb without tickets. Office will be open until 2 p. m. Saturday as a special favor to fans, according to athletic director Wally Grace.

On the sidelines

by RON PRELLBERG

The AHTHS varsity cagers gained a considerable amount of praise last Saturday night after suffering 3 straight losses and then coming back to deal the state-rated Crystal Lake quintet a smashing defeat. A beautiful job of defense was shown when a pair of Arlington centers, Don Larsen and Paul Roche, were successful in holding the frequently high scoring Phil Raywood to 3 field goals. We hope this game will bring a new outlook on the Cardinals' future schedule as it fully described the type of ball our Red Bird five is capable of.

A compliment toward the Lakers comes in the form of the sportsmanship displayed by Messrs. McCleery, Metcalf, Brady, and Bauman. Their conduct leads us to say, "If there are better sports than these gentlemen we would like to see them."

ANOTHER LOSS was suffered by the local freshmen when racked up their second win last Friday afternoon in a 26-23 thriller. This victory gave the young Cards an even record of 2 wins and 2 defeats. Another frosh game has been scheduled for Saturday, January 28th, at Grant where Coach Ormsbee will direct his lads in a morning tilt. The sophomores are also scheduled to take to the floor that day following the freshman tilt.

A quick glance at our spring sports schedule finds a triple event taking place at Arlington on Saturday, April the 22nd—tennis and baseball in the morning and track in the afternoon. The word tennis seems unfamiliar on the Cards' agenda for this is the first year it has been recognized as a sport in AHTHS competition.

It's Arlington night Saturday when Tulsa vs Oklahoma A&M

Athletic Director Wally Grace received information this week through head basketball coach Clarence Iba of Tulsa University, who formerly coached at Arlington Heights high school, that Bill Wille, Heights graduate, will be in the starting lineup Saturday night when Tulsa clashes on the hardwood with Oklahoma A&M.

This game will hold plenty of interest for local fans. In the first place it will pit two coaching brothers against each other—Clarence of Tulsa and the famed Hank Iba of A&M. On the traveling squad of Oklahoma A&M is Al Stroker, also an Arlington graduate, who was a teammate of Wille's.

These two boys were regular members of the Northeast conference cage champs in 1945-46, coached by Clarence Iba, and helped bring the first trophy to the school under the athletic directorship of Wally Grace. Both boys were selected on the league all-star team that year.

Furthermore, Wille first enrolled in Oklahoma A&M, withdrew, then went on to Tulsa. Stroker started college at Northwestern, then transferred to A&M. Both boys have just become eligible for the varsity team.

5 records broken and two more set in Niles swimming tournament

by LOU KEESEY

Five records were broken and two more established for the first time, as Highland Park won the Niles Freshman Invitational Swimming meet January 14 before a capacity crowd at the Nilehi pool. Although Highland Park won only three events, they placed in six other events to nose out second place New Trier by seven points and win the meet for the second consecutive year.

Don Larson of Niles swam the 50-yard free style in 27.2 seconds to smash the record of 28.2 seconds, set last year by Chuck Lind of Niles. Larson also placed second in the 75-yard free style.

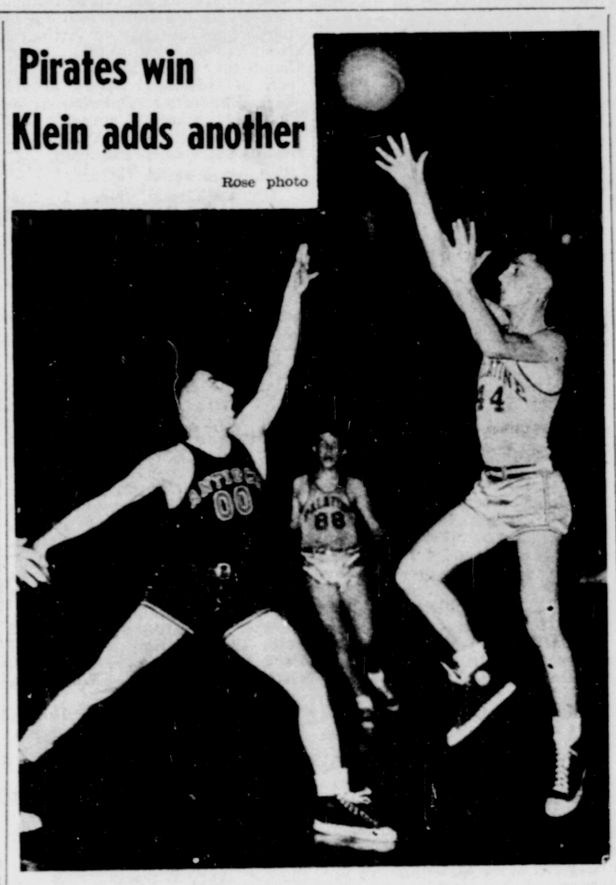

The final standings were as follows: Highland Park, 48; New Trier, 41; Evanston, 25; Waukegan, 17; Niles, 15; and Proviso, 5.

Virgin Timber

The Kaibab national forest in northern Arizona comprises approximately 750,000 acres and contains the largest stand of virgin timber in the world.

Pirates win Klein adds another

Klein (44) goes up for another one, chalking up 19 points as Palatine took Antioch into camp, 52-36. Guarding him is B. Haviland (00), while in the background can be seen Sievers (88).

Pick teams for district and regional tourneys

The new Barrington gym will be the scene of the district tournament in the Evanston region this year according to a news release from the office of Al Willis of the state association. It will be the first district tourney for Barrington and the first regional for Evanston High. Barrington can seat 1,650 fans and may top attendance figures for Illinois district tournaments this year. Wauconda, past site for many years, was second in the state in gate receipts on several occasions.

There will be nine teams at the Barrington tournament including, in addition to the host school, Antioch, Warren, Grayslake, Ela, Northbrook, Wauconda, Grant, and Lake Forest. Barrington will be a heavy favorite to win the tournament for the third year in a row.

THE ELGIN regional where both Arlington Heights and Palatine will compete will also include Elgin, Dundee, Crystal Lake, McHenry, Woodstock, and a St. Marys district tourney winner, expected to be Hebron. Elgin, Crystal Lake, Dundee, and Arlington Heights are certain to be seeded favorites in this tournament. Pairings will be released a few weeks hence. The winner plays in the Waukegan sectional.

Teams playing in the Evanston regional will be Evanston, New Trier, Highland Park, Waukegan, Libertyville, Niles, Zion and the Barrington district winner.

BENSENVILLE will play in the Glenbard regional along with Maine Twp., Downers Grove, Immaculate Conception of Elmhurst, York, Glenbard, Hinsdale, and the winner of the district at St. Procopius, Lisle, Ill.

Four squads to battle for second place honors

by G. A. McELROY

The coming two week ends are going to be real tests for Palatine and Bensenville cage teams. Friday the Pirates play at Northbrook where second place Ela met their second defeat of the year last week. Next week Friday the Palatines are host to Ela. A sweep of these two games would vault Stutzman's boys into second place.

In between Palatine meets Illinois' second best basketball team, the West Aurora Blackhawks in a home game Saturday night. Palatine's narrow floor and six foot average height should make it possible to give All-State Biever and company pretty fair opposition especially if Don Klein, the Pirate hot shot, has his shooting eye in form.

BENSENVILLE travels to Ela Friday night to avenge a close early season defeat. The Bears, led by Prouty and Geary, came from behind to nose out the Bisons, 36-34, in the first meeting. Bensenville has improved a great deal since that time. If Bensenville gets by second place Ela it will just be leading up to the big game the next Friday at Barrington. It looks like a rugged two weeks for Bennsenville.

Gerald Anderson, of the Bisons, who took the scoring lead away from Eddie Prouty of Ela last week, will meet little Eddie Friday night when the Bisons meet the Bears. Probably from here on in Anderson will dominate the scoring as he did after Christmas a year ago. If he can hold on against Ela and Barrington he should finish on top.

Ela, Palatine, and Bensenville are an evenly matched trio who will be fighting it out for second honors the rest of the way since it appears that Coach Les Harmon's Bronchos have the title just about tucked away.

In other games this week Barrington will toy with Grant's cagers at Fox Lake while Wauconda hopes to annex their first league victory at Antioch. Last time Barrington scored over 70 points in crushing Grant. Harmon's subs will get a good workout at Fox Lake. With Nolan back on the varsity Wauconda could upset hot and cold Antioch but the Sequoits rate a seven point victory.

Four Whiz Kids on Stadium double bill Thursday

From all appearances, the Chicago Stags will be celebrating "Illinois Night" at the Chicago Stadium Thursday night, January 19, when the Stags face the Tri City Blackhawks and the Indianapolis Olympians square off against the Waterloo Hawks in a National Basketball Association league doubleheader. In the feature game of the evening, involving the home town Stags and the Tri-City quintet, Andy Phillip, the once famed captain of the fabulous Whiz Kids of Illinois, opposes Gene Vance, Dike Eddleman, and Walt Kirk all former Illini stars. Vance, a former Stag, teamed with Phillip at Illinois to put the sparkle in Champaign basketball.

The "Buck Bowl" which proved an outstanding success in its debut last Monday night, will open at 7:45 and will also feature the Illinois atmosphere with Jack Smiley and Ken Menke in the Waterloo line-up. Smiley is the playing coach of the Hawks. That means four of the famous "Whiz Kids" will perform before Stadium fans Thursday night when Phillip, Vance, Smiley, and Menke will all demonstrate their wares.

The Stags will be after their fourth straight league triumph and their 13th victory in 15 home engagements.

Thursday nights card shapes up as one of the most attractive of the pro-cage season. With the $1.00 plus tax still in vogue, a crowd of 10,000 is anticipated by Stag officials. The Olympians, featuring the Kentucky national champions of last year, are always a crowd puller which should give the doublebill extra life.

Next game for the Stags at the Stadium will be again at the Minneapolis Lakers Tuesday night, January 24, with St. Louis -Washington the other contest on the double bill.

Bisons score 60-32 victory over Grant

With Gerald Anderson leading the way for the Bisons, Bensenville scored a convincing 60-32 victory over Grant Friday night in Northwest conference play. All seven men used by Coach Frank Navotny made the scoring column.

The Bisons fell behind the first period, 11-8, but an 18-4 second period brought smiles to the faces of the DuPage county boys and they stayed there throughout the contest.

IN FACT, the locals continued their mastery of the situation in the entire second half. Outscoring their opponents 19-7 the second quarter, the winners went on to a 15-10 final frame.

All seven men for Grant also hit from the field, with Gothard's ten points being high. Brown's 14 and Erickson's eight followed Anderson's total.

THE FROSH-SOPH contest saw a much closer battle. Grant took a 7-2 lead the opening quarter and hung on at halftime, 9-8. The Bison yearlings pulled ahead the third frame, 18-13, then stretched to the final seven point margin, 30-23.

Daley, Kratochvil and Modrich were high for Bensenville with eight, seven and six. Koutny and Smith both carded eight for the losers.

Nilehi yearling cagers defeated

by RONALD GAWRYS

The Nilehi freshman basketball team, coached by Charles Hussey, was defeated last Friday and Saturday, by the Highland Park and Waukegan freshman basketball teams.

The Nilehi freshman team's first loss was to Highland Park by a score of 32 to 29, while the other loss was to Waukegan by a score of 48 to 23. In the Highland Park game there was a one-point difference in the last three minutes, but the local team couldn't pull ahead.

Favor Kentucky against DePaul Saturday night

Number 5 of the schedule of college doubleheaders is slated for this Saturday night at the Chicago Stadium when Loyola and DePaul play host to Toledo and Kentucky.

Kentucky lost most of their national champions of last year, now the Indianapolis Olympians, but most fans wouldn't know it the way the boys from down south still rate among the top five college teams in the nation.

Two regulars from Kentucky include "our own" Dale Barnstable of Antioch and the new seven foot center, Bill Spivey. Spivey takes Groza's place, and has three years of competition ahead of him.

KAINTUCK rates as one of the best, particularly by virtue of being national champs two years in a row, plus trimming Bradley, Tulane and Villanova in the recent Sugar Bowl tournament.

DePaul's most recent success was against St. John's Monday night in New York. St. John's was ranked first in the country. The Demons are an "in and out" team and could win or lose Saturday, in spite of being the underdog.

Opposing Loyola will be Toledo with a 13-3 record to date. One of those wins was over Michigan by a 21 point margin.

Pirates take doubleheader at Antioch Friday

Palatine won a doubleheader from Antioch on the home court Friday night in Northwest Conference games as the varsity took a 52-36 victory and the frosh-sophs won the preliminary 23-9. Coupled with Ela's loss to Northbrook the Palatine varsity moved to within a game of second place.

Don Klein who earlier in the season scored 21 points at Antioch did nearly as well Friday as he led the Pirates to victory with 19 counters. Dick Steinbrinck hit six field goals for 12 points and John Waznik got 10. B. Haviland's 12 topped Antioch.

Coach Stutzman's boys pulled away at the start on three quick baskets by Ray Mair and held a 21-12 half time lead. Antioch pulled up 34-26 in the third period but the Pirates surged farther ahead and had a 50-33 lead when the Palatine coach inserted the second five.

The frosh-soph game was all Palatine but neither team did a very good job of either shooting or handling the ball. Palatine led 8-0 in the first period and never was in trouble as Antioch made only two field goals and but 5 out of 22 free throws. Dejka, Buenzow, and Ward each got two baskets for the winners.

tallies. The fourth frame proved no better in helping the Cards to decrease this lead as (13) tallies made up the difference in the final count. Ken Kolls provided most of the trouble for the visitors by swishing the nets for 10 of their 44 counters.

Niles plays at Belvidere Friday eve

by AL KRUEGER

The Niles Township Varsity cage team invades Belvidere tonight (Friday), January 20. The Men of Troy will be out to average a 25 to 7 lacing administered during the grid season.

Oak Park's tall fast breaking five humbled the Trojans 75 to 43 on the Skokie Court. Fred Brei's accurate shooting accounted for all 8 points scored by Nilehi in the first period. The Huskies soared to a 32 to 18 halftime lead. Martin Seidler, Trojan center, fouled out early in the second frame.

THE LOCALS, trailing by 14 points at halftime, came to life momentarily by sneaking within 6 points of the Huskies. Oak Park's fast break then overwhelmed the Trojans who also had trouble rebounding against the taller Suburban league team.

Bob Meyer, who played his first game since December 2, and Ralph Bruck, Trojan center, fouled out. Fred Brei contributed 17 points to Nilehi's attack while Ron Huseth and Bill Warden paced the victors with 24 and 19 points respectively.

Stainless Steel in Autos

About 30 pounds of stainless steel is used for trim, scuff plates, grilles and other parts of the average modern automobile, say experts.

Niles junior cagers defeat Waukegan

by DON WINGER

For their third win of the season the Nilehi Junior cagers downed the Waukegan Junior Bulldogs 34 to 26, Saturday, January 14, at Nilehi.

Although the Trojans were smaller than the Bulldogs, they dominated the passing and rebounding and so were able to win, according to Harold Isaacson, coach.

The game was a toss-up at the third quarter, with the score 18 to 18. In the final period, however, the Trojans outscored the Bulldogs two to one. High point men for the Trojans were Rodger Doyle and Rudy Hildebrand, who contributed nine points each to the final score of 34 to 26.

Six suburban leagues to meet at Palmer House Jan. 25

January 25 the principals of six suburban athletic conferences are scheduled to meet at the Palmer House at 10:30 a. m. for a meeting to discuss matters of mutual importance to all. We are not sure just what is involved but we believe that future changes in the lineup of the leagues based on location, size of schools, etc., is one issue to be considered.

The Chicago papers seem to have attempted to figure out what the meeting is for and are taking for granted that the group wants to criticize the state association inasmuch as Al Willis will be present. We haven't much of an idea what will develop at the meeting but with 40 schools represented we do not expect there will be much of an unusual nature for the press. As a group, school principals are pretty conservative folks.

Sir Henry Stanley

Sir Henry M. Stanley was not only an explorer, like Mr. Keen of the radio series, he was a "Tracer of Lost Persons." According to Childcraft books, Sir Stanley found David Livingston, the explorer, when he was lost in Africa.

Northbrook upsets Ela

by WARNER BACHAR

Northbrook won its fourth conference game by defeating the Ela Bears 45 to 41 in which the Vikings never trailed. The Ela Frosh-Soph spoiled a double victory for the Vikings by winning a close game in the last few minutes of play by a score of 38 to 32.

The victory gave Northbrook a 4 and 4 won and lost column for a .500 percentage. The game was Northbrook's all the way, but the Vikings were surprised by a late Ela rally in the last quarter which dwindled the victor's lead to 4 points.

Roy Hacker, a top contender for leading scorer, outmatched his rival, Gerald Prouty, by scoring twice as many points. Hacker talllied 12 points while Prouty was held to 6 points. This brings Hacker's total thus far to 100 er tallied 12 points while Prouty Hacker also took scoring honors, followed by Geary of Ela with 11.

The most breath-taking and high-lighted shot of the game occurred with 3 seconds left in the first quarter when Wallace Shilkus let fly a shot from midcourt which was a perfect "swisher." Shilkus later left the game via personal fouls along with Cusker and Prouty. Northbrook played with the absence of Richard Rodney who was sidelined because of an injury to his leg obtained in practice.

The Ela Frosh-Sophs ability to sink the one-handed push shot was a main factor in their victory. Another main factor was Cuscaden who totalled 18 points followed by Moore of Northbrook with 15 points.

The Vikings will be host to Palatine this Friday at 7:15 p. m.

Nilehi varsity swimmers lose

by LOU KEESEY

History repeats itself! At least it did with the Nilehi Varsity tankmen, who lost to Waukegan 53 to 22 January 10 at the Niles pool. The Trojans, who dropped the season's opener November 15 to Waukegan by the same score, were defeated by a convincing margin; but they remained in contention until the last two relays, both of which Niles lost.

Arnie Nordquist, senior, who won the 100-yard breast stroke, was the only Nilehi swimmer to place first. Second-place honors were won by Jim Rugen, junior, in the 50-yard free style; Fred Bussey, sophomore, in the 100-yard back stroke; Elmer Wegener, senior, in the 150-yard individual medley relay; and Fred Yocum, junior, in the diving.

Local talent urged to get set for Heidt show at Elgin in February

The Starmaker of America, Horace Heidt, is coming to Elgin February 16. The Horace Heidt Parade of Stars will show at Elgin high school gymnasium under sponsorship of the Elgin detachment of the Marine corps league.

Undoubtedly local radio fans have heard the program on C. B. S. and know the story of what happened to such people as accordionist Dick Contino, singer Ralph Sigwald and marimba player Pierce Knox. Mr. Murphy, one of Mr. Heidt's advance talent scouts, is scheduled to arrive in Elgin shortly to conduct the local auditions.

Auditions will be held at radio station WRMN in Elgin at 7:30 p. m. February 3 and 4. The auditions are open to professional or amateur talent, with minimum age set at 14 years old. Stage or radio acts will be auditioned. However, we suggest no groups larger than a quartet, whether instrumental or vocal. All those who will need an accompanist are instructed to bring their own.

No formal applications are needed. Hopefuls are urged to be there with music, instrument (if any) and accompanist.

Card frosh take Crystal Lake, 26-23

by RON PRELLBERG

A second win was recorded by Arlington freshmen when a fourth quarter rally of 10 tallies came just in time to assist the young Cards in subduing their Crystal Lake opponents last Friday afternoon on the Lakers' court, 26-23. This win did much for the local cause by giving Arlington the benefit of the doubt of the three game week end series with Crystal Lake in becoming the first of the two wins scored by the Cardinals.

A great deal of determination was expressed by the Red Birds when a 3 point 3rd period margin in favor of the Lakers failed to scare the Cards as they went on to match this 3 point third quarter lead in the final count. It was Dick McAuliffe and Johnny Eakins who took over the responsibilities of the local scoring department with 7 counters each. A week and two days from now, January 24, will find the Cardinal frosh battling it out with the freshmen from Warren at Warren.

THE LAKERS took the lead all the way during the first half and continued their advantage over the Cards until midway in the final period when the Arlingtonites let loose a barage of shots to go out in front. Norman Calbow came up with a half time total of 6 markers to provide most of the trouble for the Lakers and continued to do so until he had reached a total of 10.

Three points separated the two teams as they entered the third segment and by the beginning of the final period neither team had made any progress as each managed to secure a total of 6 counters during the third frame. An entirely different situation was viewed in the final frame, however, when 4 baskets and 2 charity tosses found their mark for the Cardinals to outscore their opponents 10-4 throughout the final and deciding frame.

Savoldi joins Stadium wrestling card Feb. 3

Joe Savoldi, former University of Notre Dame fullback and a wrestling headliner who has appeared against the most prominent grapplers in the sport, has been added to the All-Star heavyweight program in the Chicago Stadium Friday, Feb. 3.

The all-star show will be headed by a match between Jim Londos, the Golden Greek, and Primo Carnera, ex-heavyweight boxing champion, who are returning to Chicago for the current revival in wrestling. The Londos-Carnera bout will be officiated by one of the ring's all-time favorites, Jack Dempsey, who wore the heavyweight boxing crown for seven years.

Savoldi's appearance on the card will bring back memories of many artistic triumphs following his great gridiron career. His famous "Drop-Kick" enabled him to defeat leading stars all over the nation, including Hans Steinke, Gus Sonnenberg and Gino Garibaldi, which also placed him among the top-flight men in the sport.

Bratton expects to knock out Williams

Johnny Bratton, Chicago's crack welterweight contender, expects to make Lightweight Champion Ike Williams his seventh consecutive knockout victim when the rival gladiators clash Friday night in the Chicago Stadium.

If successful, the feat would catapult Bratton to the top of the welterweight heap and make him eligible for a title bout with Champion Ray Robinson unless the 147-pound monarch forsakes the welter throne in favor of a chance at Jake LaMotta's middleweight crown.

But only two other fighters have been able to prevent Williams from answering the final bell in a career stretching over nine years. They were Bob Montgomery, who formerly held the 135-pound crown, and Sammy Angott, another former lightweight king. Both were non-title bouts contested in 1944 and 1945, respectively.

Bratton bases his knockout prediction on the fact that at 147-pounds he will be too strong for Williams and that his formerly fragile hands are strong and sound.

"In our two previous fights," Johnny points out, "when I was a lightweight sore hands bothered me and I let Ike take the play. I feel strong and solid as a dollar now and I'm in to win as soon as possible."

Gibson pointed out again that the bout positively would not be televised though the American Broadcasting Company will broadcast the main event starting at 9:00 p. m. Chicago time. WENR is the Chicago outlet.

Presenting the Younger Generation

Inseparable sisters

These blond and blue-eyed sisters are Beth and Susan Jasper, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Jasper, 717 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights.

The youngest, Beth, is 6 years old and is in the first grade at the North school. Beth, who likes to draw and color, will begin taking piano lessons soon. The Jaspers recently purchased a piano and Beth "practices" often.

Beth's plans for the future? "She just talks about being a mother some day," said Mrs. Jasper.

Susan, 7½, a second grader at the North school, finds the Brownie troop of most importance these days. Sh has looked forward to being a Brownie for a long time and became a member last month. "That's all Susan talks about now," said her mother.

These inseparable sisters enjoy playing together and are excellent company for one another. "Last summer," said Mrs. Jasper, "when I injured my thumb, the girls worked together helping with the dishes and laundry and proved to be a great help to me."

Beth and Susan have a younger brother, Tommy, who is 2½. Having looked forward to having a "baby brother," they now enjoy helping care for Tommy.

Opposite brothers

Bill and Howard Falz, sons of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Falz of 301 W. Chicago, Palatine, are most aptly described as having opposite personalities.

Pictured first with brown eyes and hair is Howard, 5, a serious and conscientious young fellow. Howard attends the kindergarten of the Consolidated school and finds schoolwork fascinating. "Painting is one of his favorite occupations," said Mrs. Falz.

Howard is especially fond of his electric train. Being very particular about his train, as he is about all of his things, he has even told Daddy how to run it!

"Little Bill, 3, full of mischief and jokes, is constantly getting into things," laughed Mrs. Falz. He has brown eyes and blond hair.

Sundays can't come too often for this lad who loves to attend Sunday school at Immanuel Lutheran church. "Bill lives from one Sunday to another," said his mother, "and just can't wait for the next one to roll around."

When asked if the boys like to play together, Mrs. Falz answered, "When they're together they would rather be apart, and when they're apart they miss each other." Just normal youngsters!

Start mailing vet insurance refunds

The first checks were mailed to World War II veterans Monday in distribution of a 2 billion 800 million dollar insurance refund. From then on the veterans administration and the treasury will be turning out one million checks a week, hoping to have the payments in the hands of 16 million veterans by June 30.

The checks average about $125, but some will be as low as 90 cents and some as high as $528. They represent an accumulation of cash from premiums on government insurance in excess of the amount needed to carry the program.

Veterans will be paid generally in the order of the last three digits in their service serial numbers—beginning with those whose serial numbers end in 000 and ending with those whose numbers end in the 900s.

'Public paying taxes' says county treasurer

Collections of $296,825,232.55 were made during 1949 by the county treasurer's office, Louis E. Nelson stated Thursday in his annual report. Most of the income was for 1948 real estate and personal property taxes.

The personal property group accounted for the largest portion of uncollected taxes, of which 24.3352 per cent was uncollected at the year's end.

During 1949, the treasurer's office also collected more than $5,000,000 due on back taxes.

Nelson said he expected the uncollected figure on real estate taxes to drop from 4.43 per cent to an estimated 2.5 per cent by the time the tax sales are completed about June. The sale started in December, 1949.

"Personal property taxes are more than 75 per cent collected as of this date," Nelson said. "At the present time, as usual, the levy department in my office is making calls on delinquent taxpayers with a view to further collecting such taxes before court action. As a result of these two types of action, it is estimated that two years will see this tax over 90 per cent collected."

Brides-to-be

Leland J. Leikam of Prairie View and Miss Verdell R. Jarmuth of Arlington Heights were licensed to wed in Waukegan.

SMALL NATION

Andorra, located in the Pryrenees Mountains on the boundary between France and Spain, is the world's fifth smallest nation. According to the World Book Encyclopedia, this midget republic has a population of a little over 5,000 and is about two-thirds the size of New York City.

Music center featured in trade magazine

A full page of pictures and comments about them concerning students of the El Rey Music Center was a feature item of the January issue of Music Studio News, just released. The magazine features stories and articles of interest to students of music all over the world and enjoys a large international circulation.

Of particular interest locally is the picture of the "Slottag Trio," Harold at the piano, Robert at the accordion, and Herbert on the drums. Harold and Robert are students of Elmer Herrick, co-owner of the El Rey Music Center with Ray Gaitsch of Des Plaines; Elmer and Ray own the largest guitar school in Chicago at 5709 W. Irving Park road and also operate the largest guitar and accordion schools in Arlington Heights and Des Plaines.

Anyone interested may have a copy of the issue free of charge by dropping a card to Elmer or Ray at the Chicago address as long as the current supply lasts.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Three out of every five persons receiving old-age and survivors insurance benefits (social security) are women and children.

1948 Dairy Output

Seventy-eight per cent of the U.S. dairy output in 1948 was sold as whole milk, compared with 57 per cent 10 years ago.

WE POINT WITH PRIDE...

Plymouth Has New Look Both Coming and Going!

New Plymouth Special DeLuxe Four-Door Sedan

THE '50 PLYMOUTH

The 1950 Plymouth car, with important styling changes and improvements for safety and riding comfort, will go on display in dealer showrooms throughout the country January 12.

There are new lines in the silhouette which give the new Plymouth a longer, lower, more streamlined appearance. The changes are readily apparent whether viewed from front, rear, or side.

The redesigned instrument panel provides new backgrounds of transparent gunmetal on spun aluminum for the gauge dials, speedometer, radio, dial, and clock. The gunmetal finish is also used on the radio grille screen. There are larger rotary switch knobs which are easier to operate.

Features for performance, comfort and safety which were previously introduced in the Plymouth line have been retained. The car has characteristic interior roominess, ample head and leg room, and wide, deep chair-height seats. The six-cylinder, 97-horsepower engine has a 7 to 1 compression ratio. The combination ignition and starter switch, automatic electric choke, super-cushion tires, safe-guard hydraulic brakes and safety-rim wheels are among the "high-priced car" features contained in the new Plymouth.

Businessas

In 1870 America had 427,000 independent commercial and industrial enterprises which equaled one for each 91 persons. In 1947 America had 2,280,000 businesses, or one for each 63 people. So in spite of our big businesses, we have a larger number of small businesses even in proportion to our population.

A&P cites 'wrong' gov't anti-trust lawyers' case

The second in a series of cases in which "false" charges were made by anti-trust lawyers against The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company is cited in advertisements being published in 2,500 newspapers this week.

Following a pattern set in previous ads, the company quotes a federal judge who exonerated an A & P subsidiary of charges it conspired to fix potato prices in three Southern states.

Under the caption, "Here is Another Time the Anti-Trust Lawyers Were Wrong!" A & P tells about a suit filed against its produce-buying affiliate in Wilson, N. C. After the charges were heard, the jury was instructed to return a verdict of "not guilty." Federal Judge C. C. Wyche told the government attorneys that "you can't make a case without facts."

"IN THIS CASE," the ad states, "the anti-trust lawyers gave a story to the newspapers, telling millions of farmers that we were the kind of people who would force their prices down, deprive them of a decent income, and lower their families' living standard."

The company points out that not only were the charges false, but were made "despite the fact that it had always been A&P's policy to pay our farm suppliers fair market prices for all produce; to aid agriculture through better distribution of its products; to narrow the price spread between farm and retail prices; and to help farmers build better markets for their products."

The ad also states that a potato expert of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who was called as a government witness, testified that contrary to the allegations, A&P's subsidiary had made every effort to help the Deparment of Agriculture aid the potato farmer in better marketing and in getting a better price for his products.

Judge Wyche, in dismissing the case, said "I might say that I never tried a case in my life where a greater effort, more work, more investigation had been done, combing almost with a fine-tooth comb to gather evidence, as was done in this case. But as was said a longe time ago, you can't make brick without straw, and you can't make a case without facts."

REFERRING to the current anti-trust action seeking A&P's complete dissolution, the food chain states that the real question involved in this suit is whether businessmen are going to be encouraged to do a better and more efficient job, or whether we are going to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow a whistle on anybody who gets big by giving the people more for their money.

The ads are being published, A&P says, to counteract the effect of "damaging allegations," the anti-trust spokesmen "have been making in the newspapers and over the radio." This week's ad also summarizes the Washington bread case in which Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough dismissed another anti-trust case against A&P's "as absolutely devoid of evidence."

The government lawyers have not only been wrong in previous cases against A&P but "they are wrong again" A&P claims.

State funds down

State Treasurer Ora Smith said the total of state funds at the end of 1949 was $308,730,000 as compared to the $371,210,000 at the end of 1948.

The largest single factor in this decrease was the $17,000,000 drop of the Illinois servicemen's compensation fund during 1949. The motor fuel tax fund for counties was $11,750,000 less at the end of the year, the motor fuel tax fund for the municipalities was $8,730,000 less, and the state agricultural premium was $5,300,000 less.

The state and federal trust funds at the end of the year totaled $495,630,000, about $32,747,000 less than at the end of 1948. Most of this decrease was due to the drop in the unemployment compensation fund, deposited with the U. S. Treasury in Washington, D. C.

Wheeling pioneer recalls 'school days'

Paddock Publications was unable this week to find a resident of Wheeling who is old enough to remember any school house prior to the two-story wooden building on Dundee road that was replaced when the present brick building was erected.

Geo. Periolat, 79, says that he attended that school 73 years ago when the teachers were usually a man and his wife.

George married a girl who was his classmate in that school. They have many memories of the days when there really was a dunce stool and cap for the backward students. An iron pump furnished the water and sanitary facilities were farm style.

Students vied with each other for the privilege of ringing the school bell, the rope for which was in the upper hallway. School lunches were piled on a table in the corner of the school room. Heat was provided by a large stove which burned wood or coal.

Teacher's pets had the privilege of filling the stove with fuel and a good pupil had the privilege of staying after school and helping the teacher in the janitor work.

There were times, said Mr. Periolat that there was a janitor on the job. Either my studies were not very good or I enjoyed playing more than working, because I never rang the school bell, except on Hallowe'en and I was not allowed to help the teacher in her janitor work. If I stayed after school, it was because the teacher stood by with a ruler in his or her hand.

Mrs. Periolat was Emma Schneider, daughter of Dr. Schneider, a veterinarian who traveled a radius of forty miles.

The above picture was taken a lot later than 75 years ago. Our reporter did not ask any of today's young ladies when they were school pupils, but the photograph was taken sufficiently recent to enable the reporter to secure identification of all of them.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

Dear Jane:

Browsing through a favorite book we own called "Hone's Table Book," published in London in 1825, I found an interesting and amusing account of one man's feelings about his arm-chair. I hope you will be entertained by it.

"In my humble opinion an arm-chair is far superior to a sofa; for although I bow to Cowper's judgment, (who assigned the superiority to the sofa,) yet we must recollect that it was in compliance with the request of a fair lady that he chose that subject for praise: he might have eulogized in equal terms an arm-chair, had he consulted his own feelings and appreciation of comfort.

"I acknowledge the "soft recumbency of outstretched limbs," so peculiar to the sofa—the opportunity afforded the fair sex of displaying grace and elegance on a Grecian couch—but think of the snug comfort of an easy-chair. Its very name conveys a multitude of soothing ideas; its commodious repose for your back; its generous and unwearied support of your head; its outstretched arms wooing you to its embraces:—think on these things, and ask yourself if it be possible to withstand its affectionate and disinterested advances.

"On entering a room where there is an easy-chair, you are struck by the look of conscious self-importance which seems to distinguish it as the monarch of all the surrounding chairs; there is an appearance of regal superiority about it, blended, however, with such charming condescension, that you immediately avail yourself of its gracious inclination to receive the burden of your homage.

"There is one kind of arm-chair for which I entertain a very resentful feeling, it assumes the title of an easy-chair to induce you to believe it one of that amiable fraternity, whereas it only claims kindred on account of its shape, and is in reality the complete antipodes of ease—I mean the horse-hair arm-chair. Its arms, like those of its brethren, invite you to repose; but, if you attempt it, you are repulsed by an ambush of sharp shooting prickles. It is like a person who has a desire to please and obtain you for his friend, but who is of so incorrigibly bad a temper that attachment is impossible. If you try to compose yourself with one of these pretenders, by endeavoring to protect the back of your head with your pocket-handkerchief for a pillow, you either dream that you are under the hands of a surgeon who is cupping you on the cheek, or that you are transformed into your cousin Lucy, and struggling to avoid being kissed by old Mr. D....., who does not shave above once a week.

"As an excellent specimen of an easy-chair, I select the one I at present occupy. Its ancient magnificence of red damask silk—embossed in wavy flowers and curved arabesques, surrounded by massive gilt carving—is now shrouded with an unostentatious covering of white dimity. This, however, does not compromise its dignity—it is rather a resignation of fatiguing splendor, and the assumption of the ease suitable to retirement in old age.

"Perhaps a happy father once sat in it surrounded by his smiling offspring; some climbing up the arms; others peeping over the lofty back, aiming to cling around his neck; his favorite little girl insinuating herself behind him, while he gazes with affectionate but anxious thoughts on the countenance of his eldest son, standing between his knees.

"Perhaps two lovers once sat in it together, although there were plenty of other chairs in the room. (For fear some of my fair readers should be incredulous, I beg leave to assure them that it is quite possible for two people to sit together in an arm-chair, if they choose to be accommodating; therefore I would not have them dislike an easy-chair on the plea of its being unsocial.)

"Perhaps it may have been the means of concealment—in a similar way with the arm-chair in "Le Nozze di Figaro."

"Often have I when a child curled myself round in it, and listened to my old nurse's wonderful stories, till I have fallen fast asleep.

"Often have I since enjoyed many a delightful book, while lolling indolently enclosed in its soft, warm, cushioned sides."—M. H.

Until next week,
With love, Mary.

TALES of the STREET

—T. C. HART

● TULIPS

Almost anything can happen this crazy winter where the frost has been in and out of the ground three or four times.

We met our friend, R. C. Knupper, the Rand road nurseryman, the other day and he told us that he had planted 500 tulip bulbs the day before one of those special Indian summer days of his came along. And he took advantage of it by getting in those bulbs that he had left over.

He reported that there was no frost in the ground and that the spade went down without any trouble. And a couple of days after that they held a skating festival at Community park — some changeable weather.

● THE SKATERS

That ice festival, by the way, was a fine event and a nice crowd turned out to see the fun.

The first ice festival for the new park developed some interesting things.

From the interest shown by the youngsters, those annual ice festivals are going to be increasingly popular in coming years.

It was the younger children that took the most interest in the affair, and they entered the events with a big enthusiasm and in large numbers.

The surprising thing was that in the sixteen and seventeen year age groups there were but few entries, showing a lack of interest among the children of high school age where one might expect the greatest interest.

But with the enthusiasm of those younger skaters there will be plenty of entries in those upper age classes in a few years when those peppy youngsters get up there.

The contestants had a good time. The spectators enjoyed themselves, the weather was ideal for the event and Palatine's first ice festival went off in fine style.

● QUICK SERVICE

The DePue state auto license service has proved a most popular innovation this year. The plates are picked up in Chicago several times a week and people get their licenses promptly where others who have sent to Springfield for their plates in November are still waiting for them.

This quick service has proved so popular this year that it is found to grow to even greater proportions in coming years.

● NATURE HELPS

Mother Nature took a hand at helping the Chamber of Commerce take down the Christmas decorations.

Evidently feeling that Christmas was over and that the boys needed some help, mother nature sent along a high wind last Friday night and blew down Santa Claus' throne room and its trimmings, then all the boys had to do was to pick up the wreckage.

● IMPROVEMENT

A big improvement took place on Bothwell street last week that also improved the dispositions of a lot of fellows who travel along the sidewalk by the Pepper building.

The flaps of those low awnings were removed and now a person can walk along the street in comfort without ducking his head or having his hat knocked off.

There's an old saying that "everything comes to those who wait"—sometimes it's a long wait but if results are finally obtained that's what counts.

● SPRING SIGNS

A sure sign of spring has made its appearance, plenty early of course, but it's a sure sign nevertheless and that is the arrival of the new seed catalogues.

The coming of those brightly colored catalogues is always a sign that spring is on the way and the gardeners who are waiting for a chance to get up and at it can at least sit by the fire, read over those interesting catalogues and plan the garden for the coming of the garden season. And those bright catalogues sure make a person want to do a lot of gardening.

The big red tomatoes, green lima beans, golden sweet corn, orange colored carrots and all the rest of it make a tempting dish for the "hot stove" gardener these cold evenings.

And then all the beautiful and brightly colored flowers also add a lot to the interest of those catalogues and the planning of the garden.

Flowers are becoming increasingly popular of late years. A few years ago the front pages of the catalogues were given over to vegetables with the flowers having a few pages in the back part of the book. Now almost in every catalogue the flowers have the front position and the vegetables bring up the rear showing that the seedsmen are aware of the ever increasing interest in the growing of flowers.

At this stage of the game with all of those bright pictures in front of one, a person wants to plant a little of everything but there just isn't room in the garden for all of that and from now until planting time it will be a case of cut down and eliminate until, when the actual garden is planted, only a small fraction of the things a person wants to grow at this season of the year will actually go into the ground.

But this seed catalogue gardening is a lot of fun anyway and a person always has the feeling that spring is really on the way.

● POPULATION

A lot of folks in Palatine will be glad to see that 1950 federal census taken so that we'll know just what our population is.

During the last week we have heard a lot of figures that are about as far apart as the poles. A chamber of commerce speaker gave an estimate of 5,500 at a meeting of the Community Club. A boy scout executive by some sleight of hand figuring had the figure of 6,500.

Some of the political boys basing their opinion on registrations and voting records set the figure at around 4,000 and the census recently taken by the Plan Commission has it at around 5,400.

So there are the guesses, come on with the 1950 federal census and let's see where we do stand.

● MIDNIGHT OIL

If they burned oil instead of electricity up there at the high school office, that high school board would be the champion burners of the midnight oil. Their meetings have been really running up into the midnight hours these days as they have interviewed architects, discussed plans for the new high school addition and transacted the regular business of the district. And this school business has got to be real business these late years.

Where any board of directors handles business of up around $150,000 annually they are in big business, and it takes time and thought to run such a business. And that's about the size of the high school business right now with the Consolidated school board operating on an even larger scale.

So as these school boards have only their evening meetings in which to transact this business it isn't any wonder that they burn the midnight oil in the doing of this job for the public.

With school enrollments rapidly growing, school problems are increasing by leaps and bounds and those school boards have many a headache in trying to solve those problems and in giving the public the best possible service with the funds available for that purpose.

● CLASS

Times change even in a newspaper office.

We dropped into the office the other day to ask the boss a question and as he was busy we went across the hall to talk politics with our old friend Charlie Hufnagel, the advertising manager (we only agree on anything political about once in a blue moon but we talk anyway). While we were talking with "Huf" the secretary to the boss popped her head in the door and said "Mr. Paddock will see you now," and we were ushered into the inner sanctum. George Butler was with us and he removed his hat is we entered the sacred portals but we kept ours on. We could recall when all the business of the plant was done in one little cubbyhole of an office with editorial writers, reporters and advertising men all clambering over one another and looking for a place to work.

In those days no one paid any attention to the hats, there was none of this private office business in those old days and being one of the old school and the old guard we acted like we did in those days when there were no announcements, that the boss would see you, and when everyone barged around without any formalities.

Yep, even in a country newspaper office times have changed and things have gone modern—the world moves on.

● CALENDARS

One evening last week a business man boarded a Chicago bound train at Springfield, Ill. He noticed a large number of young fellows getting on the train, each holding a rolled up paper in his hand that looked like a calendar. There were a lot of boys, in fact a couple of extra cars were hooked onto the train to accommodate them. The business man was curious as to what kind of a convention the fellows had been attending, where each one got a calendar. He finally asked one of the young men about it and it developed that the crowd of young men was the new batch of lawyers who had just taken the "oath of office" before the Supreme court and were being turned loose to "conquer the world."

Among that group of "calendar carriers" were Gene Kelly and Ray Klein of Palatine who completed their legal studies last spring and passed the bar examination in the fall.

● BASHFUL

Some folks say that bashfulness is a lost art among present day youngsters, that present day kids don't know what it is to be bashful, but there was an exception to the rule at the ice festival recently.

A boy and girl were skating in the couple skating class and caught the attention of the judges. When the judges looked again to get another view of them they were gone. The public address system was called into use to get them back in the ring. Then when the judges decided they had won second place they were gone again. The P. A. system was again called on to get them to come up for their ribbons and finally the girl of the team came up to the judges. "Where's your partner?" asked the judge as he prepared to hand out the red ribbons. "Oh he's bashful" replied the girl, so the judge gave her her ribbon and one to give to the boy.

Who said bashfulness was gone forever?

● NEEDED

And speaking of public address systems, one is going to be needed out at the park this summer for the ball games and later for the football games.

Last year the loud speaker was furnished through the courtesy of Jack Wilcox, but Jack is using his and it won't be available this year, so we are told.

So now one of the greatest needs at the park will be a P. A. system. One adds an awful lot to the interest of a baseball or football game. There is a fine place for some civic organization or public minded group to really do a good deed—furnish a public address system for Palatine community park for the continual enjoyment for patrons of the park.

HOBBIES Yours and Mine

BY BETTY AINSLIE

Remember back when you took piano lessons? You had to have a real talent for piano playing to stick through the hour a day practice period with very uninteresting music books packed solidly with notes.

But piano teaching has changed. Now days the books for beginners are filled with clever pictures to color. There are songs to sing with even the first finger exercises, and according to Mrs. Lottie Parbs of 1020 N. Ridge rd., Arlington Heights, practicing isn't the thing to stress. The main idea is to capture the child's interest so he goes to the piano to play of his own free will.

Mrs. Parbs was a professional pianist for several years before coming to the United States from Hamburg, Germany about 11 years ago. But with marriage and the arrival of a little girl Mrs. Parbs now makes music her hobby. She now makes her hobby pay by giving piano lessons at $1.50 for an hour lesson.

LOTTE STARTED on her piano career by playing pieces by ear when only five years old. Even now she plays the popular tunes her friends like by having them whistle or sing them to her. Mrs. Parbs studied piano at the Conservatoire' in Muncen-Gladbach. Then as she explained after graduation interested students studied under private famous pianists, who arranged concerts for their pupils. In her home town of Hamburg she played many concerts for charity.

"Over there," declared tiny Mrs. Parbs in a delightful accent "The teachers usually have large homes and arrange concerts where they invite people like the mayor or others who are interested in music to hear you play —that helps to overcome self-consciousness."

Upon coming to the United States, Mrs. Parbs was music director at Benton Settlement House in Chicago.

The Parbs have been living in Arlington Heights for 1½ years and were busy getting their new home fixed just the way they wanted it. Now Mrs. Parbs has time for her hobby and is interested in offering her talent to groups that might want a pianist for teas or a musical evening of semi-classical music.

"My biggest thrill in music I think," said Mrs. Parbs, "was in meeting the great Bruno Walter. Now I try to attend all the concerts especially the outdoor concerts in the summer that I can."

So here is another housewife who agrees that some other interest besides keeping house makes life a lot more fun and I believe that Heights is indeed fortunate in having such a talented person right here to give lessons to children interested in playing the piano.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

I was talking with a young fellow on my route the other day and I really felt sorry for him. He had the blues, but bad!

"It seems as though I am a failure in life!" he said disconsolately. "I never excel in anything. Nothing that I do turns out as good as it should!"

He was only sixteen—and a failure in life! Funny? Not at all! He was sincere. He looked at all of the other fellows who made the football or track team, and measured his athletic prowess against theirs. He compared his grades with those of the school 'quiz kids.' Because he didn't excel, or even come close to excelling these two groups, he really believed that he was at the end of the road!

I wish that every young boy or girl at sixteen would be as thoroughly dissatisfied with themselves as this lad was. It is a healthy sign. The only places where he was off were in believing himself to be a failure, and in comparing himself with the geniuses.

There is really only one person in all the world that you and I ever have to excel,—ourselves. We don't have to be brains. We don't have to be athletes. All we have to do to get where we are going is to improve a little upon what we are each day. Do it tomorrow, and the next day, and keep on doing it.

There are many people who reach a certain point in their development, become perfectly satisfied with themselves, or else perfectly and hopelessly disgusted, and stop at that point. Either way is bad. Self satisfied people are generally bores, thorns in the side, and otherwise completely aggravating. Being thoroughly disgusted with one's self at times is healthy, but if you become chronic, you will become sour, pickyish, morose, and everyone will dislike you, which in turn will make you all the more sour, pickyish and morose.

But simply striving and improving one's self every day gives a person a feeling of accomplishment that fills him with a feeling of direction and power, of success and energy that keeps a song on his lips.

It is good to have a goal toward which you are striving, but not good to be despondent because you are not there. Whether you reach that goal or not makes little difference, if you have honestly done your best. Only a very few people are so gifted that they excel everyone else in any line of work. But every normal person can excel himself every day. That is what counts!

Des Plaines doctor offers 'mercy' plan

Des Plaines doctors were polled last week by a local newspaper regarding their opinions on the recent mercy killing in New Hampshire. Most were reluctant to reply, but one solution was granted by Dr. A. M. Purvis:

"I suppose that the law in regard to the so-called 'mercy killing' is no different in New Hampshire than any other state, and if so the physician who performs the act has made a serious error.

"I think that there should be a law passed to permit the act after a consultation of three physicians (M.D.s) and after the unanimous opinion of the consultants and the consent of the patient and the nearest relatives, this act should be legalized. But if there is one dissenting opinion of the consultants the act should not be permitted.

"However I would not care to be asked to be one of the consultants

'Hunter's Horn' thoroughly satisfying novel

All of us are at times confronted with a shelf of books, pondering which one to take. We want something engrossing, yet easy to read; we need to become involved in an alien world so we can return to our own refreshed.

Harriette Arnow has written just such a thoroughly satisfying novel in Hunter's Horn. It is peopled with the poverty-stricken inhabitants of the Kentucky hills whose scanty subsistance doesn't diminish their zest for living.

Nunn Ballew worked for years in the coal mines to save enough to come back to the hills with his family and buy the farm on which he grew up. He wants to bring it back to the productive place it was when Aunt Marthie Jane and Preacher Jim were farming it, but he can't resist following the red fox: King Devil night after night, wearing himself out with the ceaseless chase of this fox, which has been plundering the farms of the hill country for seven years. Nunn must pursue him though his farm falls into ruin and his family goes without shoes.

The Ballews could be any tattered slatternly hill family to visiting eyes, but we see them as a struggling, closely-knit group, trying their best against tremendous odds. Nunn is helpless in the grip of the obsession which is stronger than he; Millie, his wife, understands him though she grows shrewish as her precious canned goods dwindle and the wind whistles through the broken windowpane. There is lovable Suze whose fate is decided because she doesn't have a dress to wear to church, and the small boy Lee Roy who takes over the man's work while his father is fox hunting.

The hounds are an integral part of the family and seem almost human—first Zing, the only dog around Little Smoky Creek capable of killing King Devil, and then the pedigreed pups, Vinnie and Sam, which Nunn buys and feeds on canned dog meat and milk while his family eats boiled cowpeas without meat and water cornpone.

Miss Arnow writes with tenderness and knowledge the story of the everyday life of the Ballews and it becomes, in her hands, a fascinating story which the reader cannot put down until the last page is turned.

PROSPERITY

Prosperity is the touchstone of virtue; for it is less difficult to bear misfortune, than to remain uncorrupted by pleasure.
—Tacitus

Charge them that are rich in this world that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy.
—I Timothy 6:17

A smooth sea never made a skillful mariner; neither do uninterrupted prosperity and success qualify men for usefulness and happiness. —Burton

Trials teach mortals not to lean on a material staff,—a broken reed, which pierces the heart. We do not half remember this in the sunshine of joy and prosperity.
—Mary Baker Eddy

Good roads group gains momentum

The good roads bandwagon is rolling again over Illinois prairies.

Scores of business, professional and civic leaders in every section of the state are organized to develop the second great, co-operative highway program in Illinois transport history, Chas. M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, revealed.

Their concern now, he said, is not how little but how much can be added to road funds to meet the $856,000,000 for primary road improvements, $320,000,000 for work in rural areas, and $535,000,000 in urban improvements set as the minimum ten-year requirements ny the state department of public works and buildings.

Objectives in this increasingly popular proposal are:

1) Cleaning up the main, through route roadsides by regulating the clutter of hot dog stands, taverns and commercial establishments and their dangerous curb cuts into overloaded pavements; banishing distracting neon signs and billboards at points of particular danger, where possible; and establishing parallel service roadways with safe points of access to the main pavements where such improvements are economically feasible. This project would be based on official survey of roadside encroachments, ordered by Gov. Adlai Stevenson with the cooperation of the U. S. Public Roads Administration.

2) REBUILD, widen and modernize to current safety and traffic standards the main system of Illinois trunk highways as a special project in the general improvement movement. These roads—about 3,000 miles of them are the heart of the state's highway plant of 11,000 primary miles. They carry more than half of all rural traffic and are the scene of about 39 per cent of the 2,000 deaths and 30,000 injuries suffered annually in traffic accidents outside of Illinois cities.

3) Support and aid the State Highway Police and other police bodies in the enforcement drive against overloaded trucks, charged with the greatest damage to expensive state pavements. This drive brought 30,968 arrests last year (1949), and will continue with additional permanent and portable weighing stations this year, according to Donald J. Walsh, director of public safety.

4) A public study of highway financing and administration with the view of aiding highway authorities in bringing about economies and better highway organization. This project also involves the working out of ways and means to insure the state its full share of federal aid highway funds by providing sufficient state road money to match, dollar for dollar, the government appropriations available to Illinois.

To finance the vitally needed modernization of the main trunk highway system, the Motor Club has submitted the suggestion that a one-cent increase in the state gasoline tax, earmarked for this main trunk highway construction work and improvement of the system's town and city connections and for no other purpose, is the most equitable financing method.

Maine high curtails evening activities in coal shortage

After-school and evening activities at Maine high school have been curtailed because of the shortage of coal and the uncertainty of delivery dates, Superintendent Harry D. Anderson announced. The following restrictions will remain in effect until an adequate coal supply is assured.

1. Temperature controls will be switched to night levels at 3 p. m. each school day and remain at the lower level through week ends and vacations. 2. Swimming pool and showers will be closed except during school day. 3. Social activities, parties and club meetings will not be scheduled for evenings. 4. Contracted engagements will be held as scheduled: Maine Community Lectures, Community Concerts, Music Boosters Jamboree, and basketball games. 5. Maine's Adult Evening school will be postponed three weeks. It will begin Monday, February 20, and Thursday, February 23, 1950.

You can deduct Illinois sales tax from income tax

In making out your 1949 income tax return, you may wonder how much to deduct for the two per cent Illinois sales tax you paid during the year.

As in previous years, the Chicago Retail Merchants Association suggests "reasonable" deductions for average low income taxpayers.

The following chart,unchanged since 1943, is an unofficial guide. The Collector of Internal Revenue doesn't necessarily accept it. But it is believed to meet his identification of "reasonable deductions."

That means, he probably would accept your figure, based on the chart, without asking you to prove it by showing sales slips or receipts.

The chart doesn't go into higher income brackets because those taxpayers are not easily generalized. Their purchases are more varied.

| Income | Single | Married | Married 1 Child | Married 2 Children |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| $1,000 | $ 3 | .... | .... | .... |
| 1,500 | 12 | $17 | $22 | $25 |
| 2,000 | 16 | 23 | 30 | 33 |
| 2,500 | 20 | 26 | 34 | 38 |
| 3,000 | 24 | 32 | 41 | 46 |
| 3,500 | 28 | 37 | 48 | 54 |
| 4,000 | 37 | 43 | 55 | 61 |

TAX FACTS

by George Mahin, Executive Secretary Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

Representatives of statewide taxpayers' organizations throughout the middlewest will meet in Chicago on January 27 to work out details for middlewest taxpayer participation in a nationwide campaign to balance the federal budget without any tax increase.

This regional conference is an outgrowth of a national conference of state taxpayer associations held in Washington December 14. The conference of state taxpayer associations represents 36 independent taxpayer groups from across the nation, similar to the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois.

In addition to favoring a balanced budget without a tax increase and adoption of the Hoover Commission proposals, the taxpayer conference approved action by calling for:

1. Enactment by Congress of a consolidated appropriation bill in a maximum amount not to exceed the level of anticipated federal revenues. The consolidated appropriation procedure, which has been sponsored in Congress by Senator Byrd and Representative Cannon of Missouri, merely means the placing of all appropriations into one bill to be considered by Congress at one time in relation to estimated income for the year. It would provide a much-needed tool to stop deficit financing except in cases of emergencies.
2. A revision of the federal tax structure to encourage venture capital and expansion of a free economy.
3. Defeat of the new and expanded federal functions contemplated by the Brannan farm price plan, federal aid to education, new valley authorities, compulsory health insurance, and federalization of the existing unemployment compensation program.
4. Support for the Tydings constitutional amendment which would place a limit on the creation of new debt.
5. A return to the pre-war program of flexible farm price supports and a limitation on the list of commodities for which supports are mandatory.
6. Opposition to any new federal housing programs including a recommendation calling for a slowing up of existing federal housing programs.
7. Opposition to any expansion of the Social Security program until a reappraisal of the basic problems involved in the entire Social Security structure can be made and until steps are taken to eliminate abuses which now infest the welfare aspects of the program (including survey requirements).

Income tax hints in brief

The exemption allowed to each taxpayer is $600.00. An additional exemption of $600.00 is allowed for the taxpayer's spouse, if the spouse has no gross income and is not the dependent of another person.

The exemption allowed for each dependent is $600.00. The tests for dependency are the same as under the prior law, i. e.

1. He or she received over one-half of his or her entire support from you in 1949.
2. He or she was closely related to you.
3. He or she did not have $500 or more gross income of his or her own in 1949.
4. He or she, if married, did not file a joint return with his or her spouse.
5. He or she was a citizen of the U. S., or a resident of the U. S., Canada or Mexico.

EACH TAXPAYER who has attained the age of 65 years before the end of the year will be allowed an additional exemption of $600.00. This additional exemption is treated in the same manner as the ordinary exemption. A married taxpayer can take the old age exemption for his spouse on his separate return, if she has no gross income and is not the dependent of another taxpayer.

In order to split the income it is necessary for a couple to file a joint return, because the gross income of husband and wife must be totalled. Their deductions must be totalled. The net income is then divided by two and the tax is computed on half of the net income, allowing one-half of the combined exemptions. This result is multiplied by two in order to obtain the tax on the combined income of husband and wife. This method of computation cannot be used on separate returns.

Persons with adjusted gross income of less than $5,000.00 must, if they do not choose to itemize their actual deductions, determine their tax from the tax table on page 4 of Form 1040 which in each case includes an allowance for deductions of 10% of the adjusted gross income.

PERSONS WITH adjusted gross income of $5,000 or more may claim the standard deduction in lieu of their itemized deduction, if they choose. This deduction is computed as follows:

On the return of a single person — 10% of the adjusted gross income or $1,000.00 whichever is smaller.

The joint return of a married couple — 10% of the adjusted gross income or $1,000.00 whichever is smaller.

Separate return of a married person—$500.00 and no more.

The following farm expenditures can not be claimed as operating expenses: (1) Cost of clearing land of trees, stumps and underbrush, (2) leveling and preparing the land for productive purposes, (3) laying of irrigation pipes, culverts, tile drains, ditches, (4) cost of trees, orchards, groves and the expenses of their development, (5) roads. All of the above must be capitalized or the cost of such improvements added to the original cost of the farms, orchard or grove and only the depreciation prorated over the life of the asset may be claimed and included with operating expense.

No loss is allowable for crops or animals raised on your farm and destroyed by fire, storm, or other casualty. But the amount of any insurance you receive is taxable income, since you have had the benefit of the cost of these items in your expenses. However, if you buy animals or fowl or seed for crops and these are destroyed in a manner beyond your control, you may deduct the cost less any insurance received.

The pitcher's box of American baseball in 1867 was a 6 by 6 feet square in which he could move about, but batsmen could demand a choice of high or low ball. The box area was abolished in 1893 and today consists of a 24 by six inches slab on which the pitcher must keep one foot.

Aged, blue ribbon beef from the International Live Stock Exposition is now being served to patrons of the smart new Sirloin Room of the Stock Yard Inn, one of Chicago's famous hostelries, at 42nd and Halsted. Head Chef Arnold Neesen stands beside the steak throne in the restaurant, where guests may select their cut of steak, brand it and order it done to taste. ## Hughes urges 50% plow land set in corn

Many farmers have expressed surprise at the reported 50% of plow land in corn in the general farming area of Cook Co. "Our estimate is based on 1945 census which figures 44% then after vegetable lands, permanent pasture, etc., has been subtracted. Corn acreage alone was 55,500 in 1938, and 63,902 in 1945. It is easy to see that this progressive increase with bigger plows, cultivators should be set near to 50% for 1949," says Farm Adviser Hughes.

"Also, we figure soybeans in with corn because soybeans are decidedly a soil depleting crop because they loosen soil, are plowed and cultivated, and when the beans are removed the straw has no more value than corn stalks.

"It is for these reasons that we are suggesting an increased acreage of good legumes as alfalfa, and less corn. The huge surpluses of corn now piled up on Cook County farms is evidence that our acreage is too large. Not only is this true in our county, but the corn belt counties down state have increased. Higher producing hybrids gives us more bushels, draws heavier on fertility and makes even less acreage imperative.

"ON THE MORE rolling farms of Cook County corn should be cut further. Until better information is available, we suggest rotations on farms about as follows for this county, on a basis of 100 acres under plow:

| Level Ground | Acres |

"THIS MEANS handling more pasture, grass silage, etc., and more livestock. Livestock properly handled adds to the farm income, uses surplus winter labor, and conserves soil. As a help for farmers we have at either office bulletins which farmers can secure and should find useful in this problem. Such change will require a period of perhaps five years.

"These bulletins are 'Better Farming With a Legume Grass Program'. This tells what grains may be made from use of legumes, with livestock. 'Grass and Legume Silage for Dairy Cattle' tells how to make and feed grass silage. 'Pastures for Illinois' tells how to improve old pastures, and mixtures to seed on various soils. 'Grass or Gullies' describes how to properly construct a grass water way."

12-ton sugar beet yields are possible

Twelve-ton sugar beet yields are just as possible of attainment as the present 8- to 9-ton average. This is the theme of a new 16 mm. 30-minute talking motion picture in color, "Higher Profits from Higher Yields," scheduled soon for release by the Farmers & Manufacturers Beet Sugar Ass'n.

The new movie shows by case histories how plowdown of green manure crops, in combination with heavy fertilizer applications, will boost sugar beet yields as well as yields of all crops.

It advocates adoption by farmers of crop rotations that will provide adequate acreages for plowdown. Achievement of higher yields hinges on more organic matter for the soil, it says, and the farm program should revolve around plowdown of legumes and grasses supplemented by cover and other green-manure crops.

Old Principles Are Applied to New Uses to Ease Farm Chores

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

There may be nothing new under the sun. But many old principles are being given a new twist on today's electrified farms.

The application of electricity to an increasing number of chores has industrialized farm operations. It has helped to bring city conveniences to the country; enabled farmers to reduce operating costs. And given farm families more leisure time—a break in their former dawn to dusk work day.

New uses are being found constantly for high line power. In Nebraska, poultrymen have discovered that sunlamps will take the place of cod liver oil in providing chickens with vitamin D and also improve the hatchability of eggs. Many other farmers, including dairymen and beef cattle feeders, are using bactericidal lights to "blitz" germs in their poultry and stock buildings.

Hive heaters are available for producing and protecting early broods of bees. They consist of a low wattage heating element and a heat control to be placed in the hive.

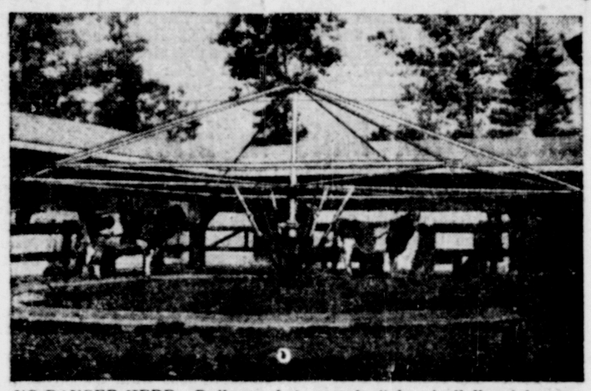

Electricity also has taken a hand in exercising bulls. Each of the animals is attached to the tip of a long pipe, several of which radiate out from a central pole. The device, looking somewhat like a large umbrella, is turned slowly around by a small motor.

Hogs now are getting twice as much pleasure out of eating than was the case a few years ago. It's because they're eating both day and night. The trick is accomplished through the use of all-night lights in their feeding areas. In addition to overhead lights, additional illumination is provided over waterers. Feeding is done in self-feeders.

Automatically controlled, electrically operated coal stokers are being used to process flue cured tobacco. They provide more uniform temperatures during yellowing, an automatic rise in temperature during drying and an even heat day and night.

Something new, especially, for the dairy farmer, is an electric vacuum groomer. It is equipped with a grooming nozzle, cleaning brushes and spray gun. Electric de-horners, also, have come on the market recently.

Electricity has worked wonders on farms so far—and the end is not yet in sight. With more than 78% of all farms electrified to date, electric power rapidly is becoming an indispensable factor in modern agriculture.

NO DANGER HERE—Bulls get their exercise "electrically" and farmers remain safe behind the fence.

LAW on the FARM

Chattel mortgages on farm crops

By court decision or common law rule in Illinois and in many other states, it was formerly impossible to place a chattel mortgage on anything that could not be specifically pointed out and identified. Farm crops could not possibly be mortgaged until they were sprouted, because before that time they were not "in being." The application of this rule had certain disadvantages because a farmer who wanted to borrow money in the fall or winter to purchase livestock or season's crops as security. equipment could not offer next season's crops as security.

To permit the inclusion of unplanted crops as security under a chattel mortgage, an amendment to the Illinois Chattel Mortgage Law was adopted in 1933. This amendment provides that no chattel mortgage shalll be invalidated " . . . by reason of agricultural, horticultural, or viticultural crops mortgaged therein not being planted or sown or in being as of the date of the mortgage, provided such mortgage does not include any such crops which shall not mature within twelve months from the date of such mortgage."

From a practical standpoint the security afforded by an unplanted crop is not so good as that afforded by tangible property. However, crops may be included in Illinois, and under this statute they may be included in October or November at the time many feeder loans are made.

Winter increases mastitis hazard

Watch out for mastitis in your cows every month of the year, but be especially careful during the winter and early spring.

Dr. M. E. Mansfield, Univesity of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine, says cows are most apt to injure themselves during the winter, when they are confined to the barn or to lots. Injuries may set off an outbreak of mastitis in your herd.

The veterinarian offers this seven-point program of mastitis prevention and control to protect your herd:

Use deep bedding to decrease the chances of injury to teats and udders. Check the barn for high door sills.

Disinfect the milking equipment, and wash and dry your hands after milking each cow. Wash and dry the cows' teats and udders. Mastitis may travel to healthy cows on unclean hands or equipment.

USE THE STRIP cup daily to find infected cows. Put the infected cows on the end of the milking line. Dispose of badly infected animals.

Have milk samples from all cows in the herd examined in a veterinary diagnostic laboratory. The strip cut often misses mastitis in its early stages.

Do not buy infected animals. Have a veterinarian examine the udder of a cow and test her milk before you buy her.

Keep cows and barns clean and drain muddy lots.

Finally, set up a program for treating selected infected cows with the help of your veterinarian. But treatment is not a cure-all. Treated cows may become reinfected unless you protect them against disease.

Hair Coloring

Henna and other dyes of vegetable origin are among the safest preparations for hair coloring. Few cases of sensitivity due to their use have been reported.

Rescind oleo tax but keep butter yellow — Meyer

There is quite a bit of discussion on repeal of the oleomargarine tax. The position of most Illinois farm leaders is that this will be okay if the coloring of oleomargarine yellow is prohibited. It is not believed to be fair to producer or consumer to allow a substitute for butter to be colored and in the minds of the consumer become identified as butter.

"There is a feeling on the part of consumers that oleo is as good food as butter," states Martin Meyer, Director of the Cook County Farm Bureau. "The facts are that foods from an animal origin are superior to foods from a vegetable origin.

"By this I do not say vegetables are an inferior food. They are absolutely essential as regulatory foods for vitamins and minerals, and should be bought as vegetables. The oil in oleo is pure vegetable oil from which the valuable portions go as soybeans and cotton seed meal and is fed to livestock. The small amount of carrot coloring in oleo is valueless. Carrots need to be consumed in quantity for their food value.

"GIVE A WILD animal as a rat or fox a chance at butter or oleo and he will eat the butter every time. There is no comparison between butter and oleo. The soybean growers are kidding themselves too. The more oil that goes into oleo, the less market there is for the oil meal from dairymen.

"Farmers should write Senators Lucas and Douglas, United States Senate, Washington, D. C., to support the Gillette — Wiley Substitute Bill which is in line with the views of farmers. We believe consumers too have a stake in this legislation, because they do not want to buy colored oleomargarine thinking they are getting butter."

Surface crust may form on farm soybeans

Do you worry because a surface crust sometimes forms and there is some spoilage at the top of your farm-stored soybeans?

Leo E. Holman, agricultural engineer with the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station, says this crusting is not too serious if the rest of your beans are dry enough.

You can keep surface spoilage low if you will break up this crust whenever it forms during the winter by stirring up the surface with a garden hand rake.

Of course, you need to provide a water-tight bin for soybeans, and you need to store them in the fall at not more than 12 per cent moisture. If you don't you may have lots of trouble with spoilage. But even a water tight bin and dry beans will not keep surface crust from forming.

HOLMAN SAYS that the reason the crust forms is that during the winter moisture given off by the relatively warm beans at the center of the bin collects just under the cold top surface due to movement of air through the beans. Enough moisture can collect under the surface to cause spoilage.

Surveys taken in several sections of Illinois during winter months have shown that the moisture content of mature soybeans stored in the fall at 12 to 13 per cent has increased within a few weeks to as much as 16 to 20 per cent in the upper part of the bin.

Holman says you can't prevent this moisture movement, but you can help to prevent spoilage by raking the surface frequently.

McHenry county may increase taverns

The McHenry County Liquor Commission recommended that the board of supervisors increase the number of taverns in the county, outside the corporate limits of cities and villages, from 100 to 135. The recommendation was, however, referred back to the commission for further study.

Another recommendation of the liquor commission was unanimously passed by the board. This was to increase the fee for transfer of liquor license from one operator to another from $50.00 to $150. The recommendations were voted upon separately.

Sonja skates before 72,164 in two days and grosses $168,704.65

The Golden Girl has done it again! Sonja Henie, whose blades once flashed across the continent to 10 world's championships and three Olympic crowns, added another record to her career Saturday and Sunday (Jan. 14 and 15) in the Chicago Stadium when she skated before the largest crowd in the history of the entertainment world. Skating four performances in the two days she appeared before 72,164 excited fans which contributed to a gross gate of $168,704.65. The total was the all time largest, over a two day span, for the Queen of the Ice and the Hollywood Ice Revue. Packed houses greeted the skating star in each of the four shows and clamored for encore after encore.

The two days also established a record at the Chicago Stadium world's largest indoor arena, for a show, both in total attendance and gross receipts.

Proper tree may help you beat heat in summer

People who live in glass houses —particularly the ranch or bungalow-type one-story affairs—can let a tree be their home's umbrella next summer, a tree expert advises.

By strategically shading off the sun, indoor temperatures can be reduced 20 degrees or more. And this can be done without interfering with the beneficial and desired effects of the sun during the frigid months, maintains D. Q. Grove, chief field supervisor of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

Simply plant a fairly mature tree which will shade a sizable portion of the roof and the west or south wall.

IT'S GOOD SENSE to shop now for a suitable tree, even though Old Man Winter's icy fingers may be clutching at your community. Large tree moving can be done in most sections any time before the first of May.

The tree you select to thwart the thermometer should be deciduous—one that sheds its leaves in the fall. This allows the sun to stream through in the dormant season. The list is fairly broad, including maples, oaks, lindens, gum and plane-trees. Suitability of locality is the prime requisite.

Of course, one or more trees help keep temperatures down for taller houses, too. In the case of one-story structures, smaller trees can do the trick effectively.

? Questions On GI Bill ?

Question: I am attending school and drawing subsistence allowance under P.L. 76, and have been working part time in a retail store. Now this job is finished and I am looking for another opening in part time work. Can I qualify for Unemployment Compensation until I locate another part time job?

Answer: Even if otherwise qualified you cannot collect unemployment compensation from the State so long as you restrict yourself to part time work, or so long as you continue to draw subsistence allowance.

Question: I have a combat-incurred injury which may need hospital treatment. Can I have an examination to ascertain the need for such treatment made by my family physician and have the cost of the examination paid by the VA?

Answer: Only if the VA has given prior authority to your physician to make such an examination.

Question: Is there a priority basis for admittance to a VA hospital?

Answer: Yes. Emergency cases have first priority. Next come those suffering from service-incurred or service-aggravated disability or illness. Veterans suffering from non-service connected disability come third on the priority list, but these must swear that they are unable to pay hospital charges and a veteran in this category must wait his turn till a bed is available.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. Does an invitation to a wedding and reception require an answer?

A. Well-bred people realize that the bride's parents need to know how many guests to expect at the reception, and they answer the invitation promptly.

Q. When a woman asks the attendant in a public restroom to lend her a needle and thread for making some small repair, should she tip the attendant?

A. Yes; this is expected

Q. Is it all right to use artificial flowers as a centerpiece on the dinner table?

A. It is done, when the flowers are really nice and decorative. Of course, natural flowers are preferable always.

Q. Are silver crumb scrapers still in good use?

A. They are still sometimes used if the tablecloth is of plain damask, but are not practical for lace or embroidery. One may fold a napkin to the thickness of a pot-holder for this purpose.

Q. Is it necessary that a bride wear a hat or veil if the wedding ceremony takes place in the church?

A. Yes, either may be worn, but at the home wedding, no matter what time of day, both hat and veil may be omitted.

Q. Is one expected to tip a waitress in a cafeteria who carries his tray to the table?

A. This is optional, although usually it is not expected.

Q. Is there any cause for one to feel "hurt" if a friend extends an invitation at the last minute to fill in for someone else at a bridge party?

A. Absolutely not. In fact, a last minute appeal from a hostess is usually a compliment, because it indicates that she considers you an especial friend.

Q. Is it necessary to send a gift when one receives an announcement of a girl's engagement?

A. No; although it is sometimes done. It is not obligatory, but one can really wait until receiving the wedding invitation before sending a gift.

Q. How close to the edge of the dining table should the silverware be placed?

A. The ends of the handles should be placed about an inch from the table edge.

Q. How soon after leaving should a week end guest write his "bread and butter" letter?

A. It must be mailed if possible, within a day or two after his departure.

This guy gets 150 miles from gallon of gas in modern car—he says

You can drive your car 150 miles on a gallon of fuel but you won't—not for a long time.

Tests with a modern automobile have yielded that unprecedented mileage.

R. J. Greenshields of Shell Oil Co., Wood River, Ill., said the feat was achieved through numerous adjustments and mechanical changes.

Greenshields reported on tests conducted during the last 10 years. By inflating tires to 110 pounds, increasing engine compression ratio and substituting light grade motor oil for normal lubricants in crankcase, transmission, differential and axles, he said test drives got nearly 50 miles from a gallon of fuel.

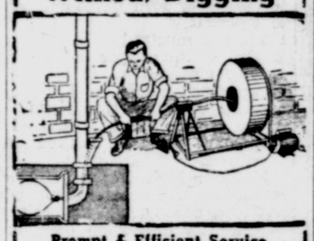

A lot more things were done to the car to get 150 miles from a gallon. Among them were setting the carburetor at minimum consumption and spark for a light knock at full throttle.

Then the driving technique of accelerating and coasting was developed.

This, Greenshields reported, resulted in a maximum economy of 149.95 miles per gallon. The tests were made with stock cars over a 14-mile controlled course.

In the future

Newest thing in floor coverings for the home is a rug that isn't a rug. It's simply inlaid linoleum with a "textured" finish that closely resembles broadloom carpeting. Comes in 26 different patterns . . . Dog owners can now make doors scratchproof with a special protective plate designed to amplify the sound whenever Rover paws at the door . . . Women will welcome this one: a liquid plastic that's said to prevent runs and snags in silk, nylon, or rayon stockings. Since it won't mix with water, one application is all that's needed. It's invisible when applied, and can be used on either new or worn hose . . . Table tips: a new fiberboard table top quickly transforms any standard card table into a Canasta table. Included: elastic loops for the various melds which hold cards firmly in place, permit enthusiasts to play outdoors as well as in; another versatile new fold-up top converts a card table into a dining table that will seat eight people. This one folds away into a 22-inch space . . . Novel rainy day item is an umbrella with a plastic handle that holds 50 cents or more in nickels, dimes and pennies, so change is handy for bus fares, etc.

Weekly recipes

Most of us are constantly seeking something delicious to grace our table. After serving Hot Potato Salad I'm sure you'll agree it's an advance step in meal planning.

2 tbspn. sugar
½ tsp celery seed

¼ tsp. white pepper
¼ cup vinegar
1 cup diced celery
1 onion, sliced in thin rings
Green pepper rings, if desired
6 medium potatoes, cooked and diced.

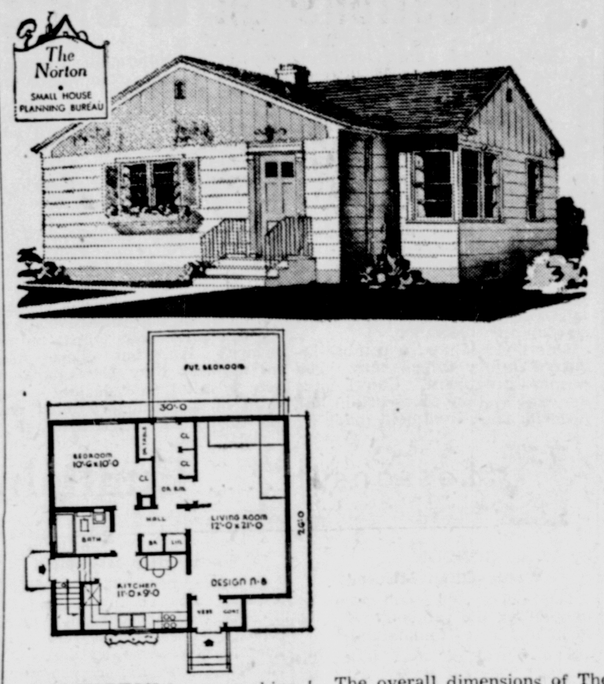

Method: Melt butter; add all seasonings and bring to boil; add potatoes, onion rings and celery; toss lightly and keep over low flame until well blended and very hot. Serve at once.

Yield: 6 servings.

Washer lodges in infant's throat

Donald Laine, 18 months of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Laine, Round Lake Park, swallowed a metal washer and it stuck in his throat. He was brought to Libertyville in a first aid squad car and transferred to an ambulance which took him to a Chicago hospital. The washer was removed. Enroute from Libertyville oxygen was provided to keep the infant from strangling to death.

New ideas for that home

THE NORTON has a combination bedroom-living room which offer interesting possibilities. Built-in twin beds, in this room, are partitioned off by folding doors from the other half of the living room. By day, the beds serve as day beds, thus concealing the dual purpose of the room. However, when divided at night, both sections have access to the hall, without disturbing the other section. Wardrobes and a dressing table are located in the dressing room. The present dressing room will double as a passage to a bedroom in the rear when the latter is constructed at a later date.

The Norton's kitchen is equipped to serve the completed house. It has a large dining space. A grade entry leads to The Norton's basement. There is a handy coat closet in the front vestibule and a broom and linen closet in the bathroom hall.

Plans of he Norton call for frame construction with a siding exterior and a roof covered with asphalt shingles.

The overall dimensions of The Norton are 30 feet by 26 feet with a floor area of 758 square feet. There is a volume of 14,402 cubic feet.

For further information about THE NORTON, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Bits o' business

The dollar is still a long way from being worth a pre-war dollar, but according to the latest National Industrial Conference Board figure its value has increased a fraction over two per cent since November, 1948. Purchasing value today: about 62½ cents (on the basis of 100 cents in 1939) . . . As dollar value rises, farm real estate continues to skid. It's still twice as high as in 1940, but as of November it had slipped six per cent from levels a year ago . . . Look for a 15 per cent dip in farm machinery output this year, says the Department of Commerce. Even so, production will probably be triple the 1935-39 average . . . Margarine makers, scenting victory after scoring a couple of falls against the dairy interests, are girding for a finish fight this year. Butter backers are still confident, but the odds are that the 63-year-old federal margarine tax finally will get the axe during this session of Congress.

Petition for new school in Des Plaines

Petitions are being circulated requesting the Grade School Board of Education to hold an election to locate and purchase an addition school house site for the North school area of Des Plaines.

The site favored by the Board of Education is a tract of land known as the River-Rand site, lying adjacent to forest preserve land, near the intersection of Rand road and the Des Plaines river.

The location, chosen after careful deliberations on the part of the Board of Education, is the same as that recommended by the Northwestern university Survey committee about a year ago and is the one recommended by an earlier survey committee from the University of Illinois.
